

Twitter Thread by Irish Born Investor

Irish Born Investor

@BornInvestor

Sharing, what I think, are some useful layouts for @tradingview

Market Analysis: I use this as a short-term breadth indicator. Clean chart with % Stocks Above Below MAs Indicator below. Indicator can be moved to any MA and also between SPX, QQQ etc.

<https://t.co/sDMNov2U60>

Irishborninvestor published on TradingView.com, Dec 23, 2022 10:02 UTC

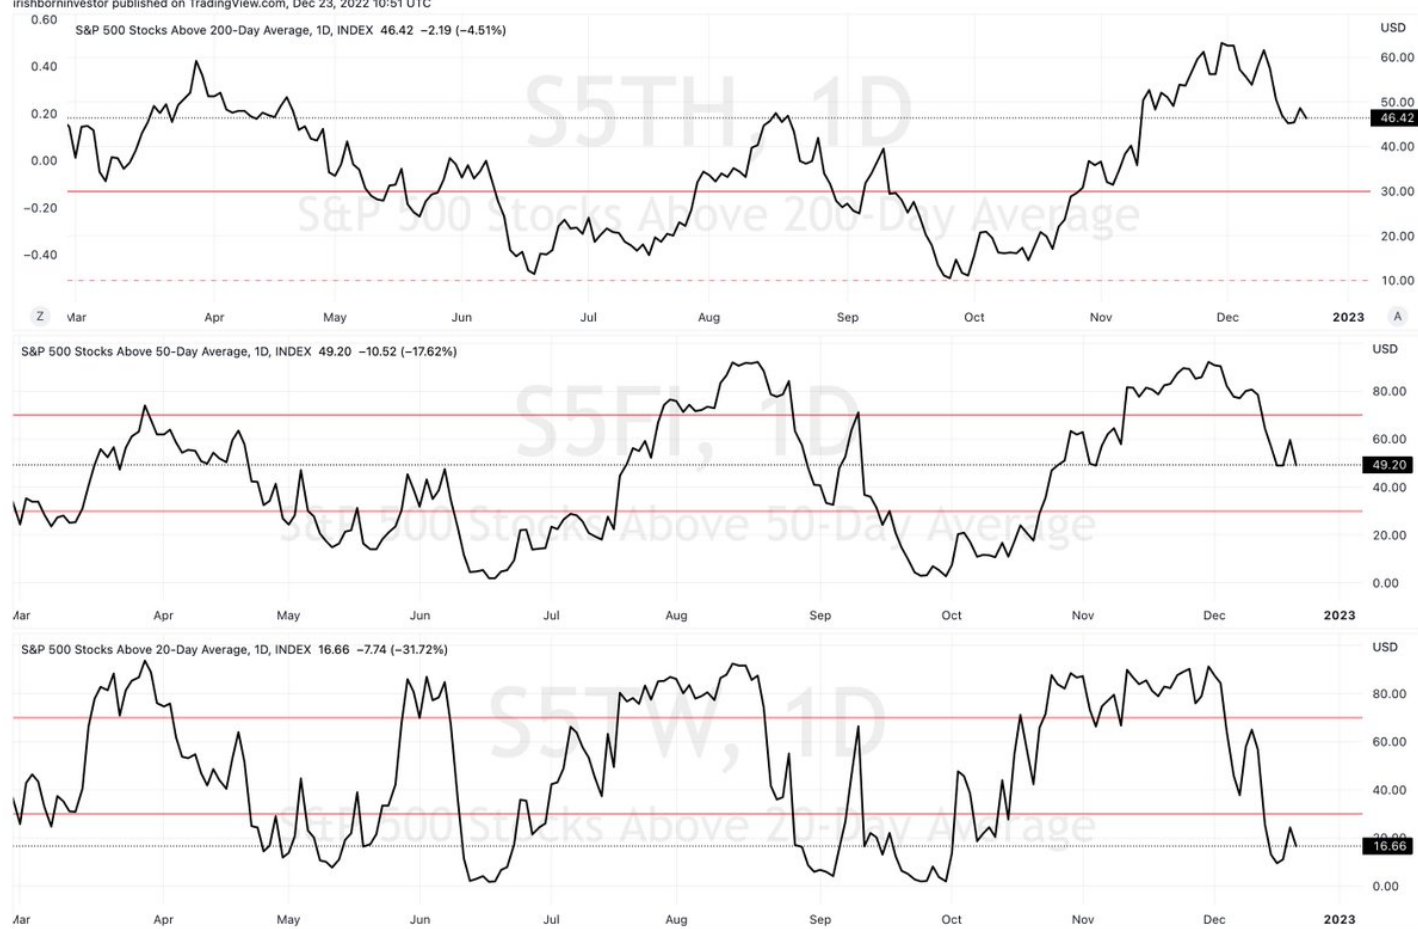

TV TradingView

$SPX Stocks above 20,50 & 200 MA

<https://t.co/K8G9KzyizA>

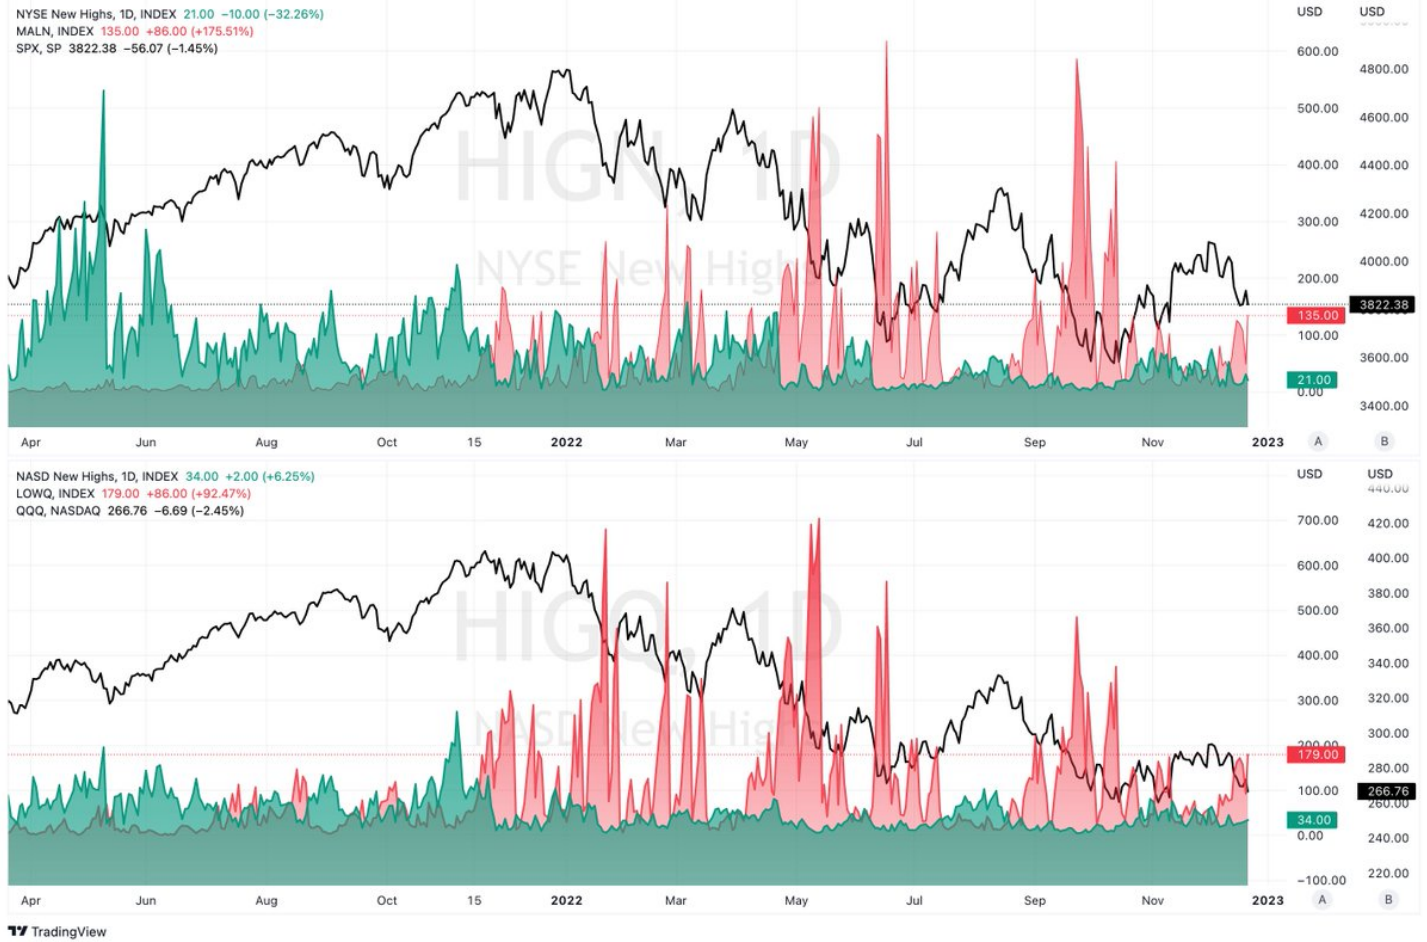

Irishborninvestor published on TradingView.com, Dec 23, 2022 10:51 UTC

TV TradingView

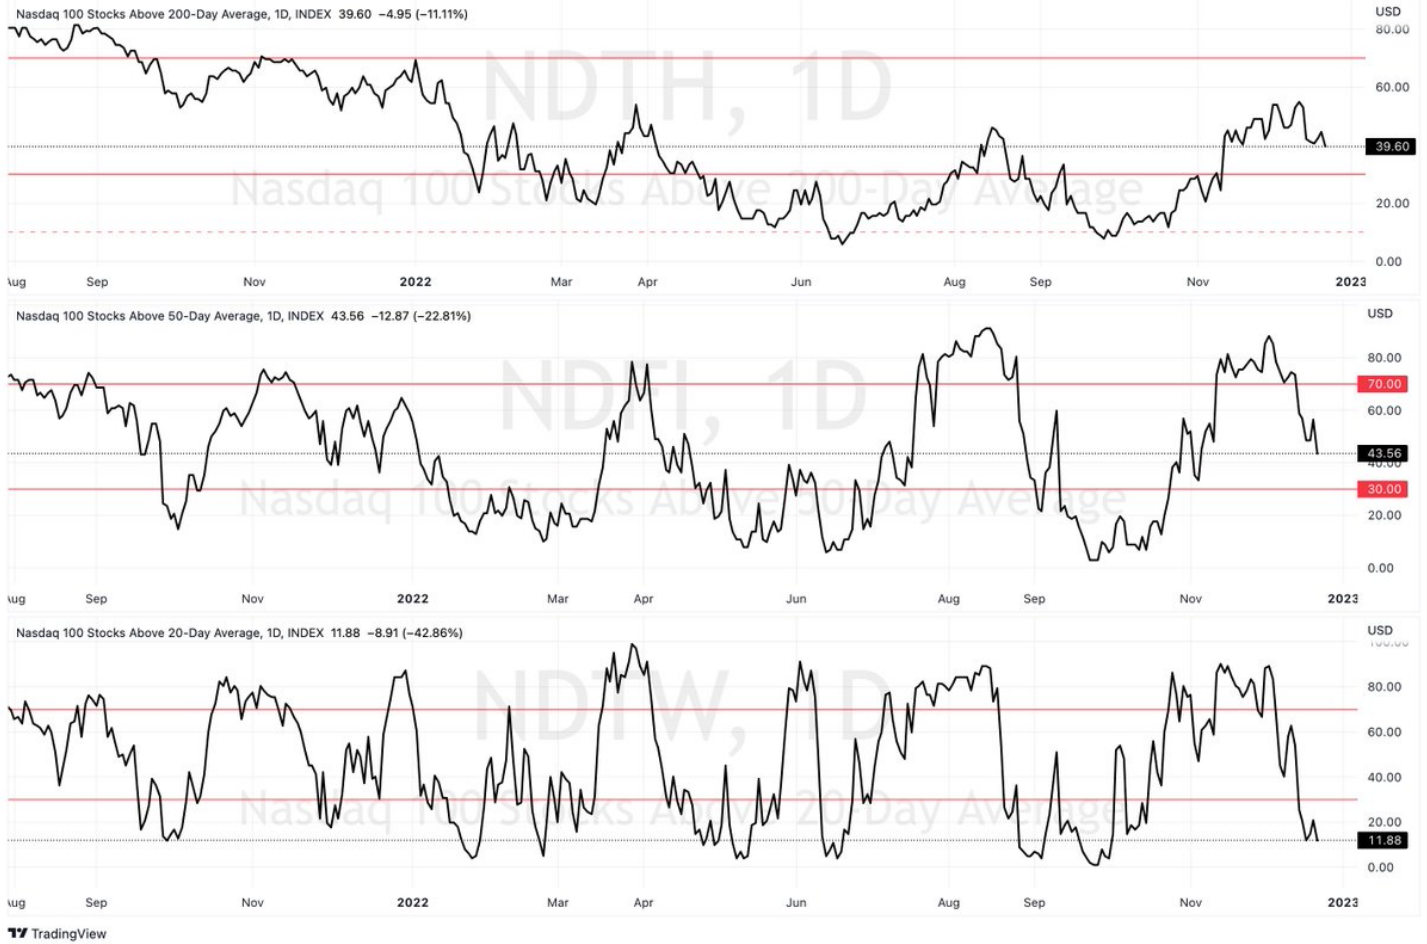

New Highs vs Lows: New Highs vs Lows in the Market. If you compare the new lows emerging with major tops in the market you can see warning signs emerge. <https://t.co/25n3nBPBSB>

irishborninvestor published on TradingView.com, Dec 23, 2022 10:19 UTC

$QQQ Stocks above 20, 50 & 200 MA <https://t.co/0geRTmSXn1>

irishborninvestor published on TradingView.com, Dec 23, 2022 10:51 UTC

Finally, here is my standard trading layout h/t to @taplot as I shamelessly emulated his layout and use many of the scripts that he generously released.

<https://t.co/EzHDMvaztS>

If you find these helpful then give them a like and a retweet. Thanks. All are freely available indicators on @tradingview platform.

