The Houthi group is a non-political group because its ideology is based on the fact that Abdul-Malik al-Houthi is a chosen Imam by Allah therefore they do not believe in elections or the participation of the other Yemenis in power

The Houthi group represents a very small percentage of a very limited area at Northern of Yemen; it does not represent the Zaydi doctrine as the majority of Zaydis are enemies of this racist group.

The stay of arms with a violent racist group such as the Houthi would not be a stabilizing factor for[redacted]or region,The opposite will happen as many youth would join groups opposed to the Houthi,such as Al Qaeda & ISIS that are looking for such environment
