Twitter Thread by Kyle Becker

Kyle Becker
@kylenabecker

The great strategist Sun-Tzu instructed, “All warfare is based on deception.”

It appears that our nation's political establishment has ‘declared war’ on our Election System. [Thread]

Instead of demanding transparency & accountability, the U.S. media is aiding this deception.

Instead of asking questions about the U.S. election, it is censoring & suppressing them. This is bizarre journalistic behavior. Americans of all political persuasions should be alarmed.

While we were sleeping, enemies wheeled in Trojan horses in the form of voting machines. The Greeks built these vessels of ruin used in the Trojan War; we acted foolishly, just like the Trojans, and wheeled them into our counties & precincts without knowing what is in them.

What is in them are secretive source codes undoubtedly stitched together like a Frankenstein’s monster.

Nothing is stopping us from concluding the voting machines have Abby Normal brains - regardless of assurance from a DHS private-public partnership functioning as their PR arm.

We are just supposed to take Dominion Voting Systems’ word that it never used Smartmatic’s source codes, even after it bought the Smartmatic subsidiary Sequoia in 2010, right as it bought scandal-plagued Diebold voting systems (a subsidiary of Premiere) in 2010? Sorry. No.

Even as they competed, Smartmatic purchased a worldwide license from Dominion. This came out in a 2013 court case. Dominion would have domain over U.S. & Canada, and Smartmatic would work elections elsewhere, like in Venezuela from 2004-2017.
https://t.co/dF7C0fjnr0

ES&S spun off Diebold due to monopoly charges, since their systems were in use in 1,400 jurisdictions in 33 states and served nearly 28 million people.

ES&S is still the biggest voting system. Along with Dominion, it lobbies both parties. Heavily.

https://t.co/iTCf4ol1hM

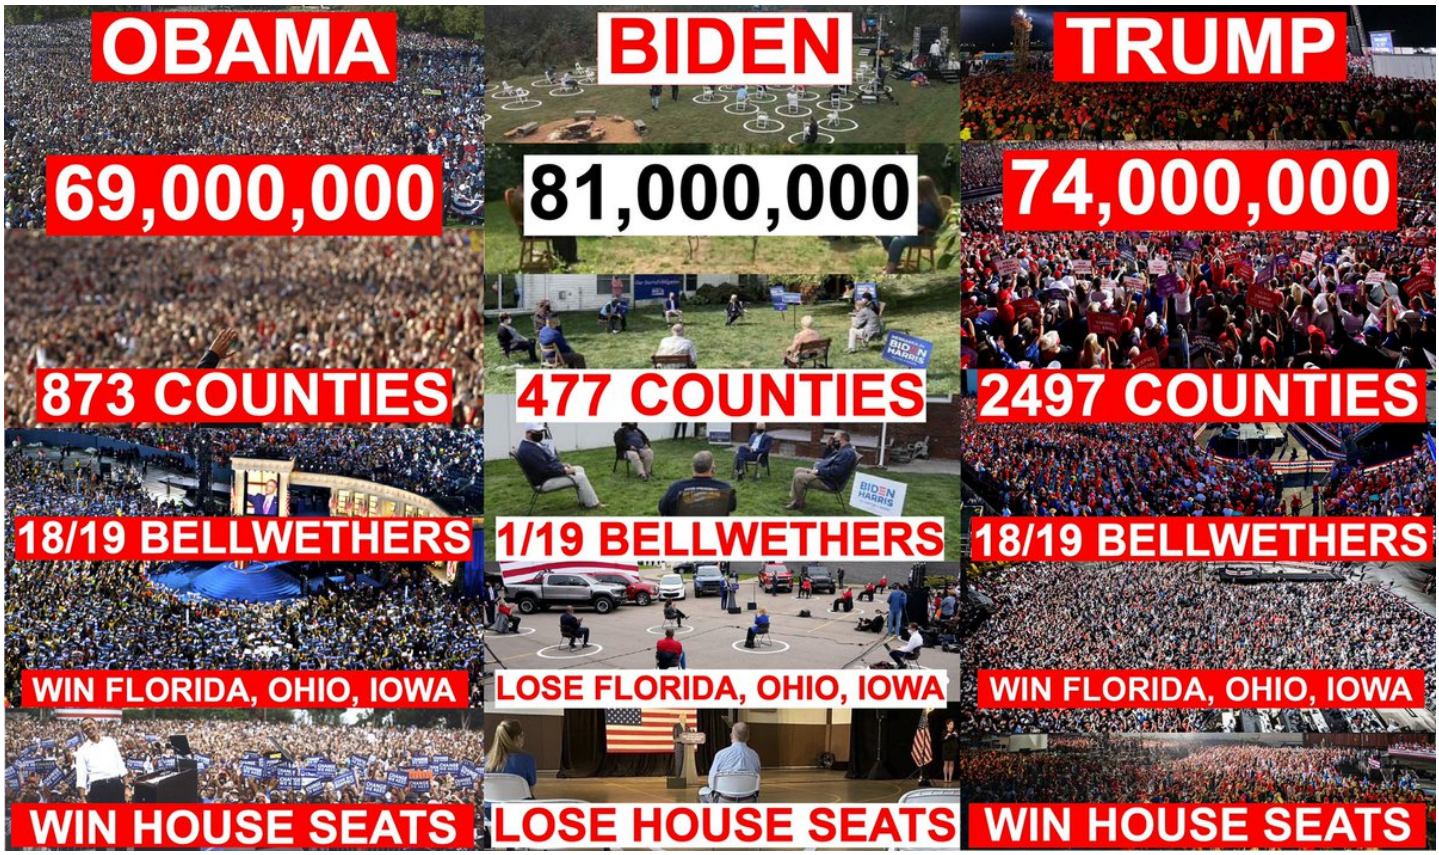

Democrats have howled for years about private voting systems companies' role in our elections. The liberal media caterwauled about it, as well. They only stopped after the 2020 election, for the most part, because they believe they got Trump out of office.
https://t.co/dFr4DodbxZ

The U.S. media have failed the American people by refusing to acknowledge all of the "errors" in the 2020 election have all gone one way – against President Trump.

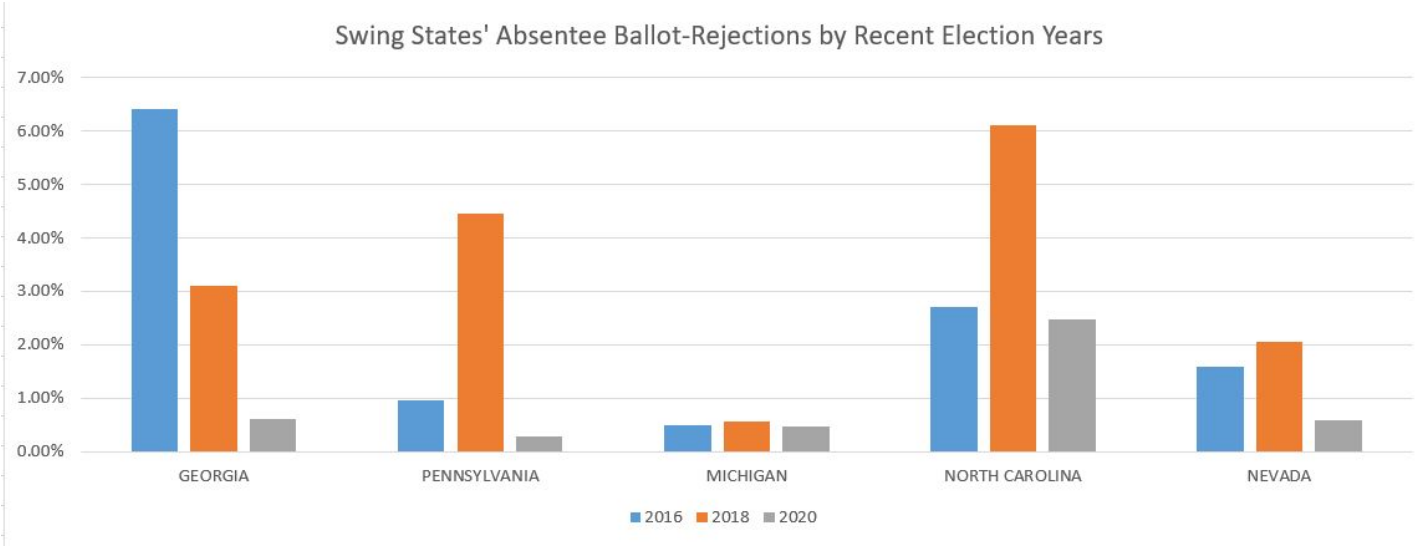

If the parties were reversed, we know how it would go. We saw a version of it with the Russia hoax after 2016.

The U.S. media have acted like all of the incredible voting irregularities are all a matter of outrageous coincidence.

Biden's election defied decades, even over a hundred years of U.S. election trends. This, in the most charged election year in a hundred years?

The historically low absentee ballot rejection rates, particularly in Pennsylvania & Georgia; the inability to track mass mail-in votes after they are checked; the demonstrated security flaws in voting machine software, and poor voting security...

... such as was demonstrated by missing flash drives that contained Trump surplus votes in Georgia, as well as misplaced flash drives in Wisconsin and Virginia, missing batches of ballots that was seen in Georgia…

In addition to the Fulton County video that showed State Vote Farm Workers wheeling ballots to tabulators and seemingly on time-stamped video running the same ballots through the tabulators over and over again.
https://t.co/uoLOo78jA2

This looming question was not even addressed due to the specious fixation on whether or not the ballots were in “suitcases.” Not the point!

Were ballots "adjudicated" using Dominion software, as was illustrated by a Coffee County, GA election supervisor?
https://t.co/qp7uqqV5Dl

These are questions appropriate to be asking in a banana republic after a federal election. They are not appropriate to be asking in the greatest free country in human history.

If we want to remain free, we better take election security more seriously.

Benjamin Franklin famously replied to a question if the United States were to be a republic or a monarchy:

"A republic, if you can keep it."

Will ours be the generation that must answer for losing the republic and for squandering our blessed freedom?

Edmund Burke pointed out, "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing.”

We must not let evil succeed. We therefore must not 'do nothing.'

We must be good men & women who will look back with pride for acting on this threat to American freedom.