Protesters have breached the Capitol. They’re outside the Senate chamber

This is happening

Police officers are holding them steps away from the Senate chamber, which is locked. Senators are inside. I see a few confederate flags.

Some sort of gas has been set off. I’m not sure by whom. Police seem to be trying to deescalate and talk to them.

“If we don’t get justice, this will never stop,” one protester yells

I count about 10 protesters by the Ohio Clock

Looks like a lot more protesters walking through the Rotunda toward the House chamber

That’s the confederate flag flying outside the Senate chamber

Protesters are on the third floor of the Senate, walking door to door, shouting “Where the fuck are they?”

They’re in the gallery

They’re in the chamber. One is up on the dais yelling “Trump won that election!” This is insane
