Twitter Thread by Jacob Rubashkin

Jacob Rubashkin
@JacobRubashkin

"We will never give up, we will never concede," says President Trump at the rally to overturn the results.

"I hope Mike is gonna do the right thing, I hope so. Because if Mike Pence does the right thing, we win the election," says Trump, even though this is false.

"All Vice President Pence has to do is send it back to the states to recertify...and we become president, and you are the happiest people," says Trump, spreading disinformation and deluding his followers.

"They want Rudy Giuliani back in New York," says the president.

Maybe he's referring to the Southern District of New York?

"And Mike Pence is gonna have to come through for us. And if he doesn't, that will be a sad day for our country, because you're sworn to uphold our Constitution," says the president, revving the bus under which he has thrown his vice president.

"If they do the wrong thing we should never ever forget what they did," says Trump of the GOP senators.

"And by the way, it's much more important today than it was 24 hours ago."

"Kelly Loeffler, David Perdue, they fought a good race, they never had a shot," says the president, apparently acknowledging that Republicans lost Georgia last night.

"You have one of the worst governors in the United States," Trump says about Brian Kemp.

"I had to beat Stacey Abrams with this guy, I had to beat Oprah, used to be a friend of mine. I was on her last show...I had to campaign against Michelle Obama and Barack Hussein Obama..."

"Twitter's bad news," says Trump. A rare point of bipartisan agreement.

"The Liz Cheneys of the world, we've got to get rid of them. You know, she never wants to bring a single soldier home," says Trump, calling out the highest-ranking woman in GOP congressional leadership.

"Mike Pence, I hope you're going to stand up for the good of our Constitution and the good of your country. And if you're not, I'm going to be very disappointed in you. I'm not hearing good stories," says Trump, again setting up his loyal VP to be the fall guy for Trump's loss.

"Maya-copa County"

"I hope Mike has the courage to do what he has to do," says Trump, apparently unaware that Pence has broken his silence to say that he will not attempt to reject any electors unilaterally.