Twitter Thread by 1A

1A
@1a

We're live, talking about the Georgia Senate election results and more with @AmandaBecker, @AndraGillespie and @beckerdavidj.

@AmandaBecker @AndraGillespie @beckerdavidj "Ossoff did a little worse than Warnock in many counties, and it just seems Warnock picked up a few more votes ... it's really granular," and it will be a while before we can tell why there's a difference, says @AndraGillespie.

@AmandaBecker @AndraGillespie @beckerdavidj "I don't see how [Trump saying votes don't matter] is a message that will energize your voters to get out there and vote, and I think that hurt Kelly Loeffler and David Perdue," says Amanda

@AmandaBecker @AndraGillespie @beckerdavidj "We could do a story on voter fraud, but it would be a very short story. It has been investigated extensively... and evidence of voter fraud is very close to zero," says @beckerdavidj.

@AmandaBecker @AndraGillespie @beckerdavidj Gabriel Sterling, a top Republican GA elections administrator, told CNN that the loss will "fall squarely on the shoulders of President Trump and his actions since Nov. 3rd … When you tell people their vote doesn't count, they believe that." https://t.co/0iAfD9DovX

@AmandaBecker @AndraGillespie @beckerdavidj "All 50 states have submitted certified election results... and what's supposed to happen today is basically an awards ceremony, you open up the envelopes and read the votes, which we already know," says @beckerdavidj.

@AmandaBecker @AndraGillespie @beckerdavidj "[Sen. Majority Leader Mitch McConnell knew] this was a slippery slope to go down," says @AmandaBecker of the senators objecting to President-Elect Biden's win today. "I think he knows it was not a winning political road to take for Republicans and he tried to stop it."

@AmandaBecker @AndraGillespie @beckerdavidj "The vice president's role in today's joint session is entirely ceremonial," says @beckerdavidj.

@AmandaBecker @AndraGillespie @beckerdavidj "I think the divide within the GOP is only growing bigger right now," says @AmandaBecker. "No one knows what the party will look like in two or four years and how long Trump's imprint will linger."

@AmandaBecker @AndraGillespie @beckerdavidj "This was the most secure and transparent election in history," says @beckerdavidj. He adds, it's always a good idea to improve the system to encourage voter confidence.