Twitter Thread by Lagonda Blogger■

Lagonda Blogger■
@Lagonda_Blogger

So ... a quick recap.

1) There was massive voter fraud.
2) Republicans claimed they wouldn't stand for it, and object to the illegal electoral votes.
3) A handful of people (most probably Antifa) gained access to what should be a highly guarded building. >>>

4) Some chaos ensues for a few hours, but not a single person was hurt or killed (inside the Capitol, that is)
5) And all of a sudden, this causes our once fierce Republicans to drop their objections, and agree to a stolen election.

... ■

>>>

Further observations:

1) It seems the Washington Police helped the so-called "protesters" to gain access to the Capitol --- it's not the first time the DC Police Force acts against the interests of Trump.

>>>

2) The only person that died yesterday was an actual Trump-supporter ... shot by the DC Police.
3) There's footage around that seems to suggest the mayhem in the Capitol was staged.

>>>

4) And, most interestingly: Trump leaves a pre-recorded message on Twitter, that almost immediately gets an entirely new Twitter-warning, stating this message shouldn't even be retweeted. Why? Because the message proves Trump knew exactly what was going to happen.

>>>

What happened yesterday was 100% Color Revolution Playbook ... the Cabal's tried and tested method for regime change.

By organizing this giant rally yesterday, Trump provided them with all the cover and incentive they needed to execute their script once again.

>>>

So, in other words ... they took the bait. They truly went all-in on their crimes. Total commitment.

Yesterday demonstrated their intent, and it also demonstrated they have the majority of both parties in their back pocket.

>>>

If you're going to drain the swamp, you'll need to drain all of it. This goes way beyond R vs. D.

Now, if it can be proven this entire operation was coordinated and funded by foreign entities, the US Army will step in, as this basically qualifies as a hostile invasion.

>>>

And I'm pretty sure some very shocking and convincing proof will surface over the course of the next couple of weeks.

Remember: FISA works both ways!

CORRECTION: It seems the person that was killed was inside the Capitol building. So I got that wrong.