Twitter Thread by Alexandra Erin

Alexandra Erin
@AlexandraErin

I haven't been harping on it because it at least contributes to taking it seriously, but this is part of why I shudder every time they call the halls of Congress "sacred" and talk about them being "desecrated".

> One of the most significant problems a lot of Democrats and the liberal commentariat have been allowing themselves to be hampered by is an adherence to some sort of notion of the sacrosanct nature of institutions as those institutions are burning down because people won\u2019t act.
>
> — Dr. Sunny Moraine PhD is carrying the fire (@dynamicsymmetry) January 8, 2021