Twitter Thread by Operation Cupcake

Operation Cupcake
@PhillipsBarrie

Alex Barros-Curtis run both Smith’s campaign in 2016 and Starmer's in 2020. He is Keir's new ultimate enforcer but who hacked, data scrapped and purged? Is Keir's position as LOTO truly legitimate?. Did he cheat?. Thread. #StarmerOut #LabourLeaks

Novara Media revealed that a leading figure in Kier Starmer's campaign had extensive links to Owen Smith's leadership bid in 2016. When asked if others from the Smith campaign were also involved in Starmer’s leadership Keir's office did not respond #LabourLeaks #Pfizer #Pharma

Keir had a campaign website, the controller for this DATA, according to the site itself, is a company called Movement for Another Future Limited. Alexandre Samuel Barros-Curtis is the sole director of Movement for Another Future Limited. Alex controls the DATA. #LabourLeaks

According to his LinkedIn profile, Barros-Curtis’s day job is as a consultant solicitor “Providing specialised legal advice in the area of derivatives and structured finance” in particular “Hedging, project financings, securitisations, credit derivatives” #LabourLeaks #HedgeFund

He has worked extensively on derivatives and structured finance matters in Europe and Hong Kong; as well as formerly working for the Clinton Foundation. Asked to comment on Mr Barros-Curtis and his role in the party Labour said they do not discuss staffing issues. #LabourLeaks

Mr Barros-Curtis worked as Keir’s head of compliance during his Leadership Campaign, Party insiders say he has also been at the centre of high-profile decisions to recommend the suspension of Labour members and councillors over recent months #LabourLeaks https://t.co/pRPUx22WwJ

“For anyone seeking to stay in their jobs it would not be sensible to disobey the new managers’ requests. The manager has also been given the power to step in and make decisions himself about cases if need be.” #LabourLeaks #StarmerOut #DATA

"Labour's executive director for legal affairs, who sits above the head of the party's GLU unit, is Alexander Barros-Curtis. He was the DATA controller for the Keir Starmer leadership campaign. The party's disciplinary apparatus is supposed to be 'impartial." Aaron Bastani

But who hacked? - The Labour party formally reported two members of Sir Keir's team - one of them is his compliance official accusing them of hacking into the party's membership database. https://t.co/LzPBfpN5DE

Starmer's team members were accused of what's called "DATA - scraping" - seeking to obtain certain information from a wider set of data. Was the compliance offical Mr Barros-Curtis?, after all he is also the DATA controller for Keir's campaign website. https://t.co/dTLk0isPyP

The Labour Party had previously reported a data breach to the ICO after MPs resigned to join the Independent Group, funded by multi-millionaire pro-Israel lobbyist Sir David Garrard (“cash for peerages” scandal Tony Blair) a major financial backer of Labour Friends of Israel

The team allegedly combed through the central party database to obtain a subset of information about members. Hacking into the members database to gain an unfair advantage is cheating. Is Keir's position as LOTO legitimate? £300,000 on Posters■#StarmerOut #LabourLeaks

Was this "DATA - scraping" information stored and later used against "Corbynistas", left wing Jewish members, Palestinian supporters?. I hope not but many members have been purged. Keir and his staff have some serious questions to answer. #StarmerOut https://t.co/pUAtsUscLY