

Twitter Thread by Just A Finance Aficionado

Just A Finance Aficionado

@mishika_chamria

Thanks for sharing such valuable insights @SamitVartak ❤■

Alot of key takeaways ■

You guys are adding alot of value to investors community■

@cautkarshpandey @dadalife369 @saket1974 @ishmohit1 @saketreddy

@BahirwaniKrish @VohiCapital @academy_share @soicfinance

SAMIT VARTAK CLUBHOUSE SESSION

Core investing Philosophy @ Sage One ?

It's a risky asset class so we have to make higher returns atleast out performing market is the goal.

CAGR of 20 - 25 %. → doubling money in 3-4 years.
To do this companies have to double earnings and they find such companies.

Focus is not on P/E or valuations.

Primary focus is on business models. First go light with it and then come valuation into play.

Many cheap businesses are available at 2-3 P/E.

He wants quality over cheapness.

Many cycles have sorted out b/w the years how how do you filter stocks ?

When we are looking for growth, you want true growth to be easily funded.

Earnings should be ideally enough to fund the growth and also companies that have some control on their profitability.

Sectors that do well are not necessarily high growth

A lot of consumer oriented companies you will find for 10-15 % consistent compounders.

How can we play the real estate cycle?

→ building materials - electrica, steel pipe
or an amazing builder.

"LOCATION IS THE KEY"

Financial Sector?

Not so bullish.

- Growing corporate credit will be very difficult. Companies can finance their expansion, mostly the cash generating companies.
- Unsecured lending - 95% of the population. very stressed due to lending to rural, MSME, so their lending will be difficult who support to the corporate lending.

Dividend policies have a big effect too.

Promotor takes up the max dividend.

Another struggle - Auto Industry.

- cost of manufacturing ↑
- running cost ↑
- oil electric can be a disruptor

There can be 3 triggers for the auto.

Not that these will de-grow, but the targets are big.

Contd

In India knowing the management of the company is necessary.

Eg Baj Finance, PI Industries, Deepak Nitrate,
You should read a lot.

Question 'why' among different valuations what businesses get.

Think about your style of investing.

If you go wrong then you have an emotional decision, probability game, or you missed on to something.

The belief in ground level checks, meeting the supplier, knowing the management, hearing out from them.

Anything unique you find in Promotor?

Indian promoters may not be good at communicating but good at execution.

- Why CAPEX?
- What can disrupt the industry?
- What execution plan?
- What key executed in the past?
- Work culture is important?
- Is he a good delegator?
- Do they hire talent?
- Understand the future?