Since many of you'll asked..
I love gapups upon results..I find them v powerful tools esp if they don't get filled over the first 3-5 days.
On the flip side..gapdown breakdowns are something i totally dislike..so i prefer to watch and watch...
DN, Tata Chem, Balaji

This is what a gapup breakout can potentially do..
Tesla's 10-20x move also started with a Gapup...

and before you'll start thinking gaps lead to multi bag moves..do remember..Tesla had fallen 60% before it started its move..
Most of our stocks currently already trading at rich valuations.

And lastly while on the subject of gaps..here is one which did gapdown on high volumes..
One of my biggest winners of 2020..
Never covered the gap and drifted downwards..

Just doing this as hindsight analysis to show visual examples of gapups and downs.
