These are long term Moving Averages, which in my view are irrelevant for short term positional trades.

For my trading strategy, 13-day & 22-day EMAs are more suitable.

If SmallCap dips below these MAs & they get into the bearish sync, I get cautious & reduce my position size.

Sir as you follow the smallcap index, do you take full positions when it's trading below its key moving averages or wait for some confirmation? pic.twitter.com/ph6HTJ9rbD
