If you’ve opened your Zerodha account recently, you may not know about some of the cool features we have across all the Zerodha products and platforms.

A thread on some features that will help you trade and invest better■■

With Nudges, our aim is to help users avoid mistakes at the point of decision-making. We’ll nudge you when you’re about to make a mistake like buy dubious stocks, trade illiquid scrips, stocks with corporate actions etc. Here are a few Nudges that have helped users the most■

With GTT, you can place long-standing orders. You can place a target and a stop loss for the stocks you buy so that you don't have to track the prices every day. The orders will remain active until triggered*■

If you trade large quantities of scrips with freeze quantity, for example, you'll have to open the order window each time. With sticky order window, the order form remains open even after you place an order so that you can quickly place multiple orders■

> Normally after you place an order, the order window closes. With the Sticky order window, the order window remains open, making it easy to place multiple orders with the same input with just one click\u26a1rather than doing it all over again. This helps overcome qty freeze limits. pic.twitter.com/65kXY4h9f0

With the Positions Analysis tool by @BeSensibull, you can see Max loss, Max profit, Breakeven probability of profit, Greeks, IVs and much more right on Kite.

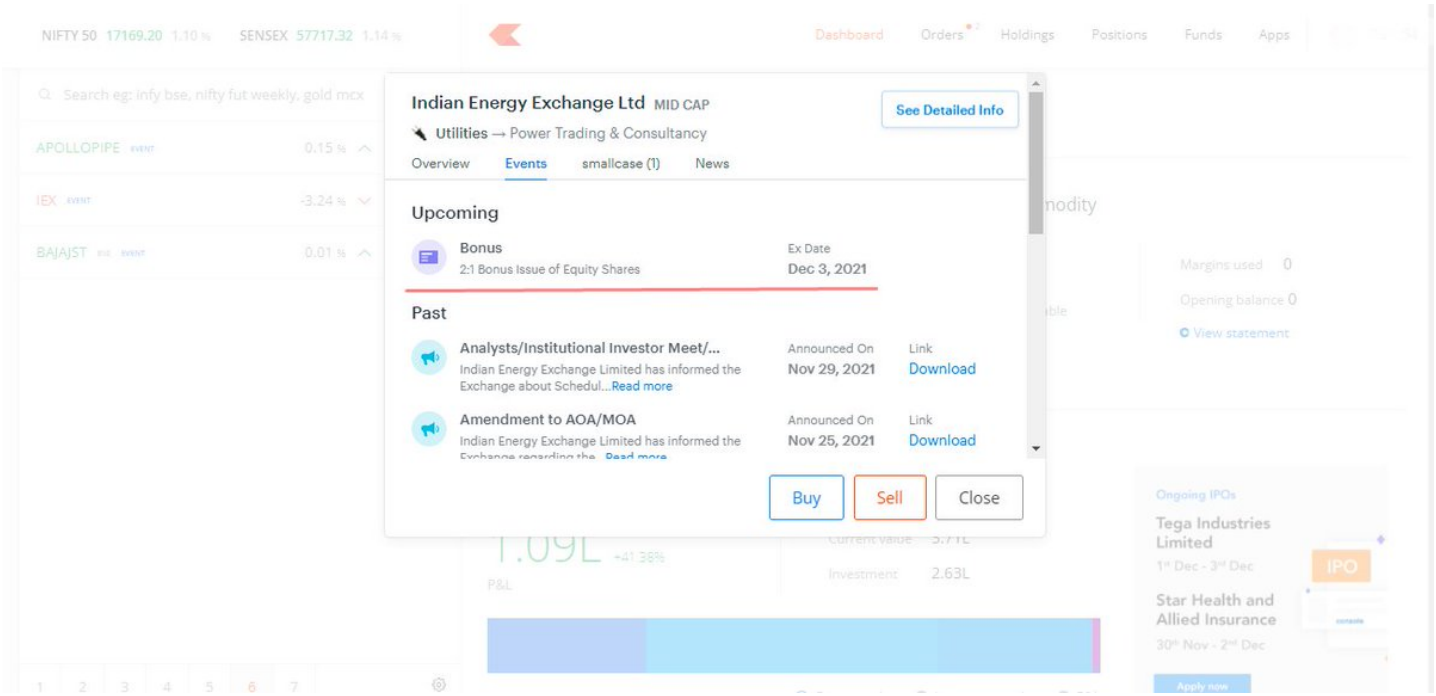

You can also change the price and expiry to see how much you'll gain or lose. https://t.co/2yTvZF1jC5

With popped out charts, you can analyse charts, place orders, track orders and positions all from the same window. You can also view multiple charts in the same window.
https://t.co/FqYVJzHsMT

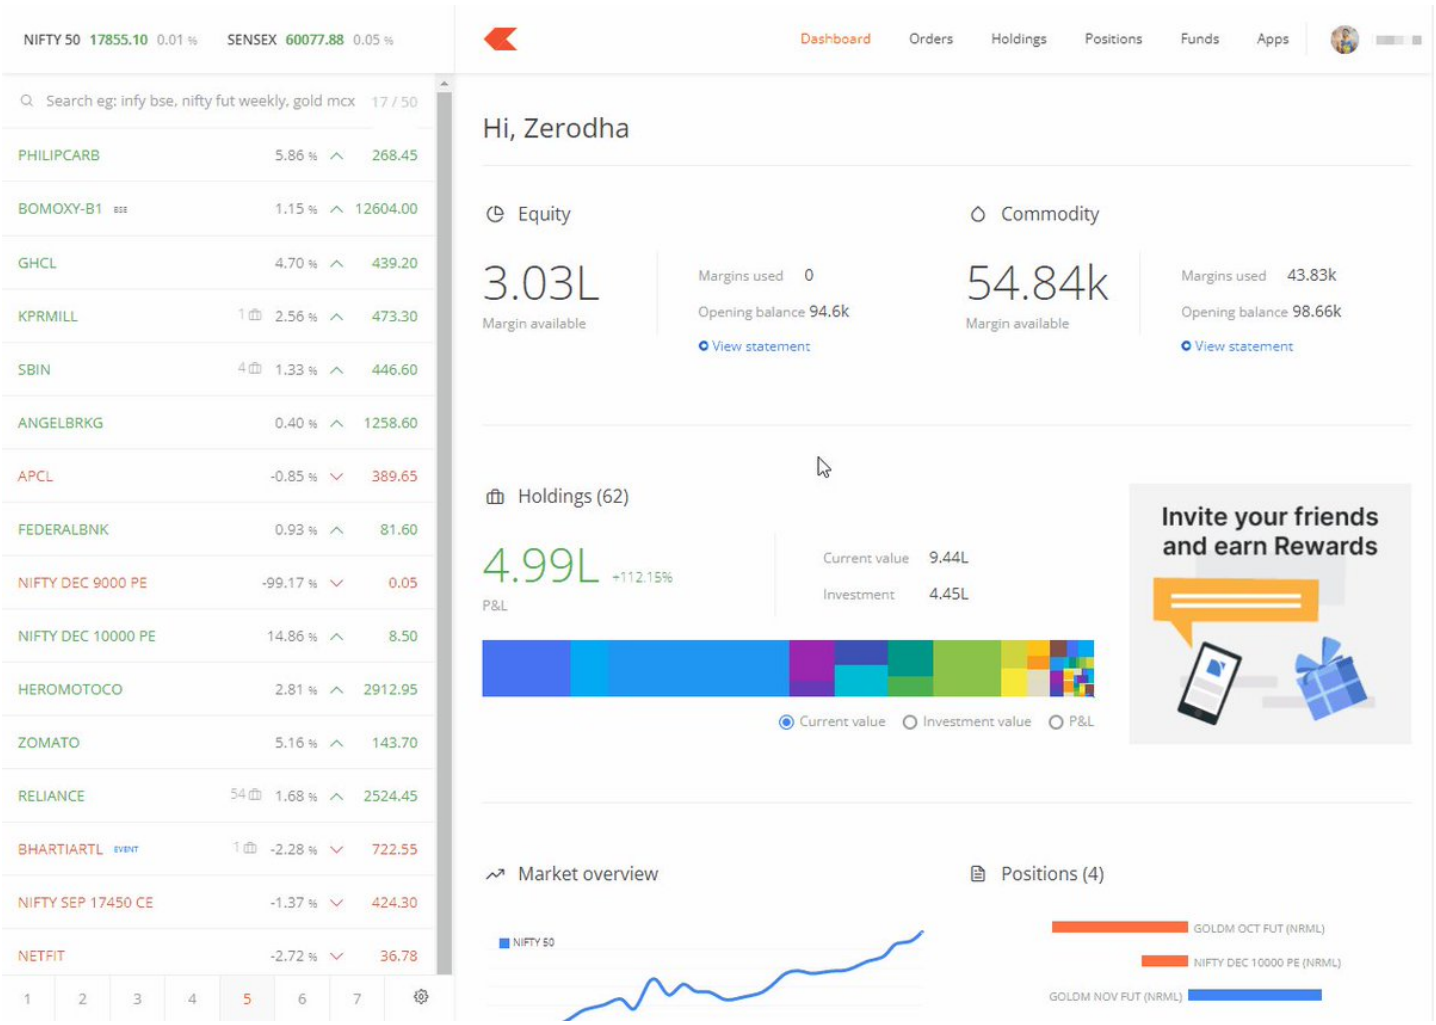

Just like mutual funds, you can also create SIPs on stocks and ETFs and invest systematically every month.

You can keep track of all important corporate actions and events that impact stocks with the Fundamentals widget on Kite by @TickertapeIN. You can also see an “event” label on the marketwatch next to scrips with upcoming corporate action & events.
https://t.co/a0mfuiaPg0

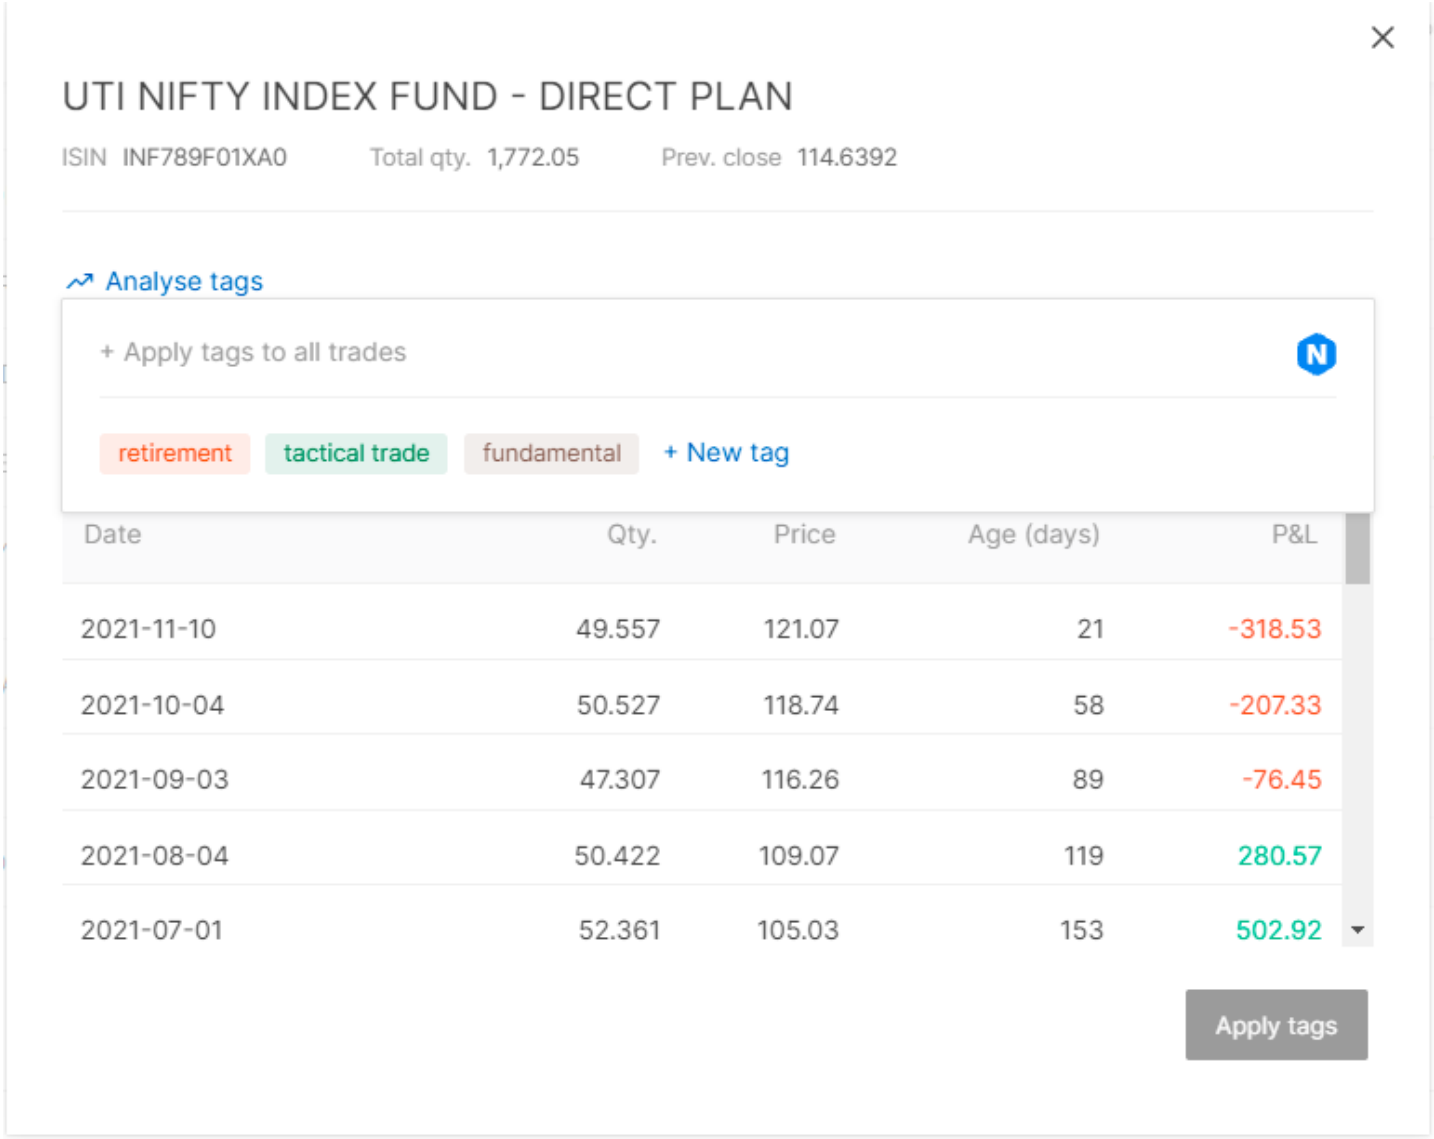

Never miss a trade with alerts on Kite. You can create alerts based on conditions like OHLC, volumes, open interest (OI) and more. You can also create alerts based on other scrips. For example, If Nifty Futures is trading at a discount to the spot price. https://t.co/u8H6KKoThC

The Technicals widget powered by @StreakTech gives you a quick technical overview of stocks & F&O so that you're always trading with the trend than against.

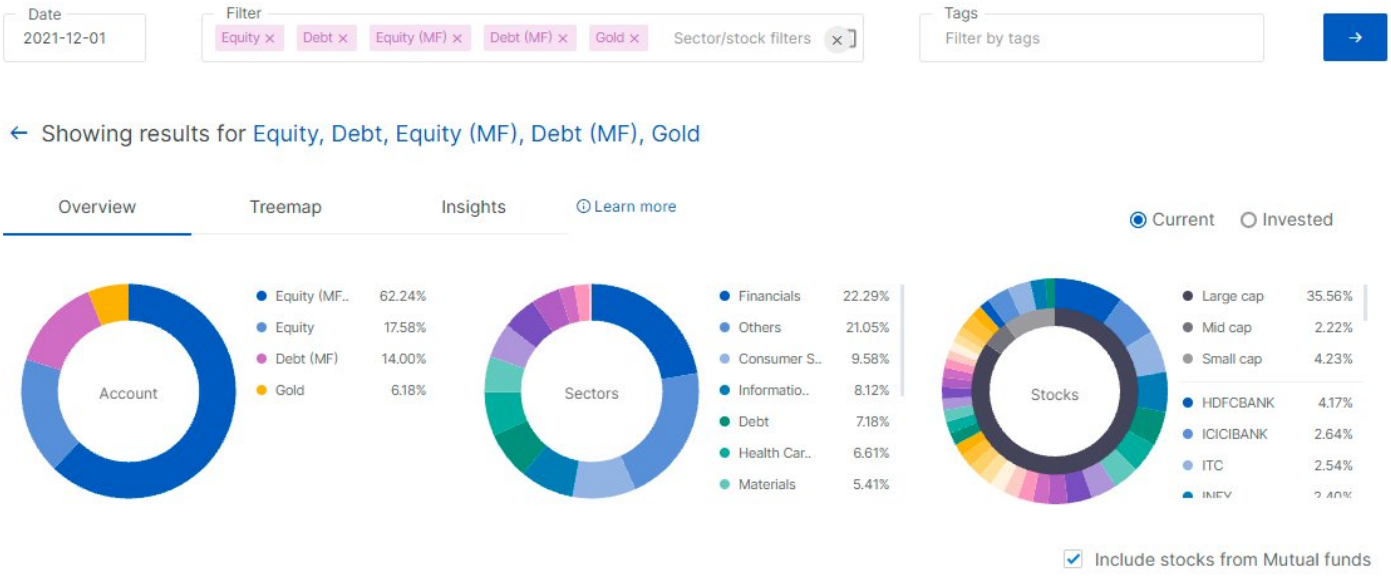

A lot of trading is also about figuring out what's not working and learning from it. With Tags on Console, you can tag all your trades and investments and then analyse the performance. You can also use Tags to create and track your financial goals■ https://t.co/csUN47H2xV

If you haven't checked already, you can gain a lot of insights into your portfolio with Portfolio Analytics on Console.

You can get a sense of your asset allocation, sectoral exposures including underlying stocks from MFs, portfolio beta & more.

We all struggle to find the right■gift for an occasion. But what if you could gift something that keeps on giving?

You can now gift stocks, ETFs, & Gold bonds. It's the perfect way to save time & get your friends & family to start investing as well.

When you're in a drawdown, you run the risk of overtrading & blowing up your account. The best thing when you're in the red is to stop trading & take a break. Kill switch helps you do just that. Enabling it will instantly disable trading in your account.
https://t.co/XKHQYokMmF

Adding a nominee to your account makes things less complicated in the case of unforeseen events. Up until recently, this was an offline process. But now, you can add nominees online. We'll also alert your nominees if your account is dormant for a year.
