When you are looking at ATH stocks for further research for possible entry, one important thing to note is to concentrate the stocks that has gone up atleast 100% over the last 6 months. This show that there is an evidence of strength. Ignore those below 100% returns.

Best performing Highest revenue Most expensive Penny stocks Overbought Oversold All-time high
Stocks that have reached their all-time highs — Indian Stock Market Stocks that grow on a constant basis differ from the ones that reach their all-time highs, even though they may seem similar. In the latter case, fundamental data significantly prevails over the technical one. The key difference lies in the timeframe of their price dynamics. Pay attention to the company financials as well as the absence of sharp increases and decreases in price since it could help you determine whether or not the business is financially stable.
