All my screeners in one place.

I like to keep it simple, so use just a few basic screens. And a lot of manual chart reading.

(Thread ■, read on...)

Trend Template for Momentum Stocks

My main screen which I run every weekend to prepare my watchlist.

Near All-Time-High (ATH)

My auxiliary screen that I generally use when the trend template is generating too many candidates, and I need to zero in on the very best.
(Happens usually during strong up trending market)

Relative Strength (RS) List

My utility screen which I usually run at times when the market is experiencing general weakness within a longer term bull market, or during a bearish phase.

Gets me stocks holding up the best in the general weakness.
