One of biggest insight I can give to long term investors - Never never invest in stock where monthly RSI14 is <50, stock attempts to cross it but stays below it. Have seen enough charts to conclude. Probabilities wont be in favor and can see multi year time correction

1/1 The statement might look simple but has lot of nuances to understand. The best way is go open charts and explore. Any session I take my focus is on taking one simple statement n bring all nuances. May be sometime will do for this too but you need to explore it yourself.

2/2 Must have some basic knowledge of time frames, longevity of sata etc etc technical analysis to consume it fully. Explore it, it's a beautiful world.
