Twitter Thread by visa is decluttering old drafts

my adhd coping mechanism is I talk to tens of thousands of people so they'll follow me back, then I livetweet my daily activities and get that lil dopamine hit or whatever when they click the heart when I type "ok just sent that email I been procrastinating on"

I'm currently writing the event description for my feb 14 salon which is on romance and eroticism, so I absent-mindedly googled "eroticism salon", and, uh, I found this strange and magnificent photograph. I want a painting of this wait, I have that app on my phone that's how I made my profile picture progress on my email is not being made. but who cares about my email. (well, anna does but never mind her for now, i'	m sure she'll forgive me). ART is currently being made. art comes first art takes time

Create Art

Got It

I can turn down or turn up the intensity of the effect. The app is Pikazo btw

