Twitter Thread by Pericles Elytis

Pericles Elytis
@PericlesElytis

This is a public service announcement. The most valuable commodity in the world is human attention.

Human attention gives value to everything from currencies, to real estate to precious metals.

Human attention is the hard currency of politics and political power. Without it, no politician or party can last for one minute.

I witnessed something yesterday and made an observation which I must share with you here.

Judging from the sheer tidal wave of attention given to President Trump yesterday, and the complete lack of attention being given to Joe Biden, the Democrats and the Swamp should be very afraid. We know who won. They know who won.

We saw yesterday on Presidents' Day in West Palm Beach what the power of human attention looks like. In the revolutionary battle for the currency of human attention, President Trump has already won.

This Revolution will not be fought with guns. It will not be fought with military and weapons and invasions. The biggest war will be fought with the human mind. It will be fought with human eyeballs and attention and concentration.

It will be fought with average citizens taking back their financial freedom from the global governments and banks which have long enslaved, indentured and indebted us while eroding our wealth with crippling inflation.

Fractional reserve banking, unlimited debt issuance and the constant floating of more and more inflationary fiat currency erodes the wealth of nations and puts us all on the road to serfdom, as Hayek correctly pointed out.

In my opinion, the advancements in Blockchain Technology will level that playing field and allow average citizens to take back their financial and personal freedom and free themselves from the shackles placed upon them by the Central Banks and globalists.

Pay careful attention. Educate yourselves. Concentrate on what is important. Give it all your attention and focus. Don't give your attention to people or things that don't deserve your energy or focus.

Remember that Satan/Lucifer/Evil thrives on human attention and our obsessions and evil shrivels up and dies without human attention. So develop your spirituality. don’t give attention to what you don’t value and hold dear. The greatest attention is love, so give it freely.

In this way, evil will be vanquished. Natural rights endowed by the Creator prevail, as our founders intended. Patriots are now in control.

@threadreaderapp unroll