We spoke about the Citizens' Assembly and one of their most exciting plans on the Policy Podcast in November.

Go and read their reports at https://t.co/PFFBTHp0k1

Here are some of the policies they've called for that line up well with @Common_Weal polices (with links to our papers):

[Recommendation 3] A House of Citizens to oversee the Scottish Parliament - https://t.co/wiaOFxrecc

[12] All tax-payer funded documentation to be automatically made publicly available and easily searchable - https://t.co/QtzSUIcNpu

[15] Introduce a Universal Basic Income - https://t.co/x4NJlLaCjc

[32] To focus economic investment on SMEs rather than multinationals - https://t.co/HkctdUbPHQ

[34] Work with @Living_Rent etc to implement a system of rent controls - https://t.co/6WplZrOUJq

[38] - Ban unnecessary non-biodegrable materials in our goods, increase recycling and minimise waste (we actually go a fair bit further than this) - https://t.co/gSB7kI5cl8

[40] Wider investment in renewables and surrounding infrastructure - https://t.co/KZzstAQLFl

[42] Make it much easier to retrofit homes to meet climate targets - https://t.co/e4QPN9PqTy

[48] Be transparent about the private involvement in public services - https://t.co/GXQJuBnpiE

[50] A broad-spectrum review of the tax system to ensure that it is fair and progressive. - https://t.co/nLax5oaZ9f

[51] Investigate a four-day working week - https://t.co/ysO9E57mh8

Great to see these ideas gaining majority and sometimes overwhelming support from the Scottish public as represented by the Citizens' Assembly.

Very proud to see that @Common_Weal has not only been on the right side of these debates but in many instances well ahead of the curve.

Over to @scotgov now. We all await your response to the people of Scotland. How many of these recommendations will you implement?
