@ESCharlie_cep

I don't talk much about my time in care because over a decade since I left care and it just hurts to. But the last few days I've seen a bunch of stuff about the review and this thread attempts to answers some of the questions...this is my response to Josh's answers

> There have been a bunch of questions about the review over the weekend. Here\u2019s my best go at answering ones that have been asked by a few people..
