On the evening of Thanksgiving headed to bed and noticed one a sock on the bathroom floor decided not to toss it in the hamper but instead see how long it would stay there, sort of a sociological experiment.

a week later, it remained, so it was decided it must be intentional and deserved recognition as such made this little label hoping it would motivate her to pick it up.

Did you put that there?

Beautiful work. Very sophisticated.

as long as it was on display, it deserved an audience so the barnyard animals arrived. They find it very fascinating.

Breaking news!!!

What can it meeeeeeean?

after walking the dog and this had appeared.

It's a miracle!!!

They "herd" about the party.

this is a very small bathroom...

when asked when the sock might go away.

She said, "how long do art exhibits usually last?"

I've found the original author of this work! He didn't put it on Twitter but it's defiantly his work! Give @atomicusagi a High five and a follow for this amazing thread!
