Twitter Thread by Justin Jackson

Justin Jackson
@mijustin

The contemporary idea in online business is that you need to build an audience, get to know their needs, and then build something they want.

It's focused a lot on who you serve. (Who are these people? Do they have money? Where do they hang out?)

But is this the best way? ■