

Twitter Thread by Vikrant

Vikrant

@Trading0secrets

I really love ♥ every tweet of @markminervini sir

But out them 5 are incredible ■

Which are also summary of his book.

Here are that five 5■ tweets ■

<https://t.co/vKMVxF137t>

Ignore the naysayers. They will always be here and they will always be skeptical of your dreams and try to discourage you. Success is the best revenge. And now I'll hear the excuses for my 2021 USIC performance as well. LOL!

pic.twitter.com/2hziplVEzf

— Mark Minervini (@markminervini) September 29, 2021

<https://t.co/nGrDHIRkuA>

Rules I built a 38-year career on...

1. always use a stop loss
2. define your stop before you enter
3. never risk more than you expect to gain
4. nail down decent profits
5. never let a good size gain turn into a loss
6. never average down
7. never get bold when running cold

— Mark Minervini (@markminervini) December 23, 2021

<https://t.co/8DtxnJf0Bo>

If you want to make great returns consistently and do it w/ minimal drawdown, you must get off the idea of being right or wrong and instead learn how to lose much less when you're wrong than you make when you're right. I'm wrong just as much as I'm right. That's why I use stops.

— Mark Minervini (@markminervini) July 20, 2021

<https://t.co/ROihOUjesI>

I dedicated 37 years to learning and perfecting the craft of stock trading. If there was a way around risk management, I probably would have found it. PhDs, Nobel prize winners and geniuses haven't been able to do it. Your losses must be managed smaller than your gains.. period.

— Mark Minervini (@markminervini) July 5, 2021

<https://t.co/FI8rBubf73>

My strategy in the simplest terms.. pic.twitter.com/SW7yrdIFUa

— Mark Minervini (@markminervini) December 7, 2021