Twitter Thread by rida ■■■

rida ■■■
@itsnotrida

In this thread I compare Bahria Town (Karachi) to other cities, local and international, to relay the spatial scale of 'legalized' fraud involved. Try to also grasp that all of the areas in these cities fall under one developer.

Image: Bahria Town Karachi overlay on Lahore

Image: Bahria Town Karachi overlay on Islamabad and Rawalpindi

Image: Bahria Town Karachi overlay on Peshawar

Image: Bahria Town Karachi overlay on New York

Image: Bahria Town Karachi overlay on London.

Image: Bahria Town Karachi overlay on Toronto. YIKES.

On one hand, top authorities are adamant on removing encroachments along Karachi Circular Railway, not resettling the most marginalized, rendering several homeless. On the other, they've essentially 'fined' fraud of this scale.

"No one man should have all that power". As a millennial i'll conclude this with a meme.

(Bahria Town outline based on satellite image showing current expansion, not fully realized master plan)