Twitter Thread by Jenn Dize ■■■■Flint CORRUPTION | see pinned ■

Jenn Dize ■■■■Flint CORRUPTION | see pinned ■
@jennelizabethj

CW: Extremely detailed and disturbing firsthand account of what happened at the Travis Scott concert/Astroworld in Houston where 8 people died and hundreds were injured. Including alleged negligence by concert staff. Credit: SeannaFaith, IG.

seannafaith

Today is November 5th, 2021. It is a Friday.

1/5

Who I am in this story is not important, rather it is important the things I have now witnessed. Astroworld, Houston, Texas. Travis Scott is the only one performing. I don't know how many people were at the festival, but I do know that every single person was at that stage. My friend and I wanted to be close to the stage – as close as we could possibly get. We were not able to get very close, but we did end up on the side, near the walkway in the middle. Surrounding us were chest-high metal gates. "Barriers." We stood there for two hours, as did every other person. Every gap was filled, where your feet were placed was where they stayed. Energy rose as the time neared - beginning the show. Within the first 30 seconds of the first song, people began to drown – in other people. There were so many people. Tall men, women. Women and men where the only thing they could see was the back of the person in front of them. The rush of people became tighter and tighter. Breathing became something only a few were capable of. The rest were crushed or unable to breathe in the thick, hot air. My friend began to gasp for breath, and she told me we needed to get out. We tried. There was no where to go. The shoving got harder and harder. If someone's arms had been up, it was no longer a possibility to put it down. So, people began to choke one another as the mass swayed. It became more and more violent. We began to scream for help. We could see security, just a few people over, in the walkway in the middle. It got tighter. Impossible to breathe, as our lungs were compressed between the bodies of those surrounding us. More people began to scream for help,

https://t.co/03xzCzhymb

> This might be her smh https://t.co/RZhwUdMa8q
>
> — \u2600\ufe0f\u2600\ufe0f\u2600\ufe0f (@XxGrandex) November 6, 2021

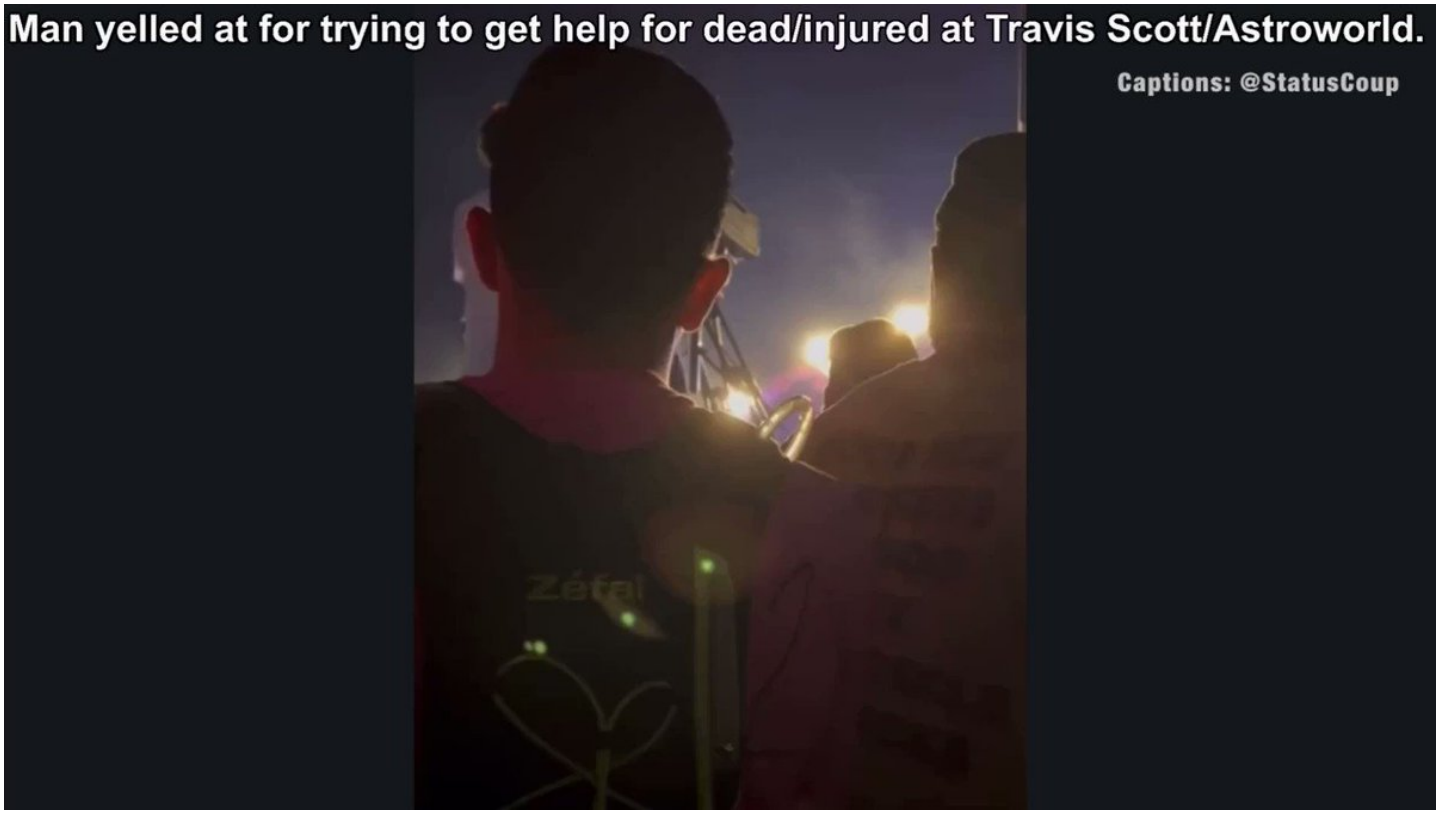

We will be following this story and giving updates @StatusCoup (follow) as well as via https://t.co/LaaCjGIyB7 (subscribe) - we're independent media and all about TRUTH and giving the microphone back to the people.

Travis Scott eerily watches on (could he not see?) as unconscious fan is carried out in front of him at Astroworld festival in Houston. The concert continued.

Fans desperately yelled to Travis Scott to stop the show. There’s an ambulance in the crowd and people were dead. The concert continued.

“Y’all weren’t in there…motherfucking dying…save someone’s life! That’s somebody’s kid.”—A man desperately tries to get help for someone dying in the Travis Scott/Astroworld Houston crowd and is ignored by staff and yelled at by fans—one calls him a “bitch.”

If you know the source/credit for the above video, please let me know.

.@AppleMusic streamed the Travis Scott/Astroworld festival where 8 people died and hundreds were injured. https://t.co/82LMh8RCYR

> Feast this Friday @AppleMusic pic.twitter.com/Jym95t3rla
>
> — TRAVIS SCOTT (@trvisXX) November 3, 2021

.@AppleMusic tweeted after the deaths at Travis Scott/Astroworld, “see ya on the other side. @trvisXX went big for H-Town.” This was likely a highly unfortunate pre-scheduled tweet, but is rightly raising eyebrows.

Tweet

Apple Music
@AppleMusic

SEE YA ON THE OTHER SIDE.
@trvisXX went big for H-Town. Listen now to #ESCAPEPLAN and #MAFIA.
apple.co/AstroworldFest

■ https://t.co/J52ZgFuw6p

> If anyone watched Travis Scott\u2019s doc on Netflix \u2018look mom I can fly\u2019, then you know that people trampling each other and going crazy was always encouraged and literally right at the beginning of the documentary he got arrested for inciting a riot at his show.
>
> — Spill Sesh (@spillseshYT) November 6, 2021

Another angle of the woman from the top of this thread, who’s trying to get a camera operator to alert others as to what’s happening as people die/get hurt at Travis Scott/Astroworld in Houston. (Source:Reddit/unknown)

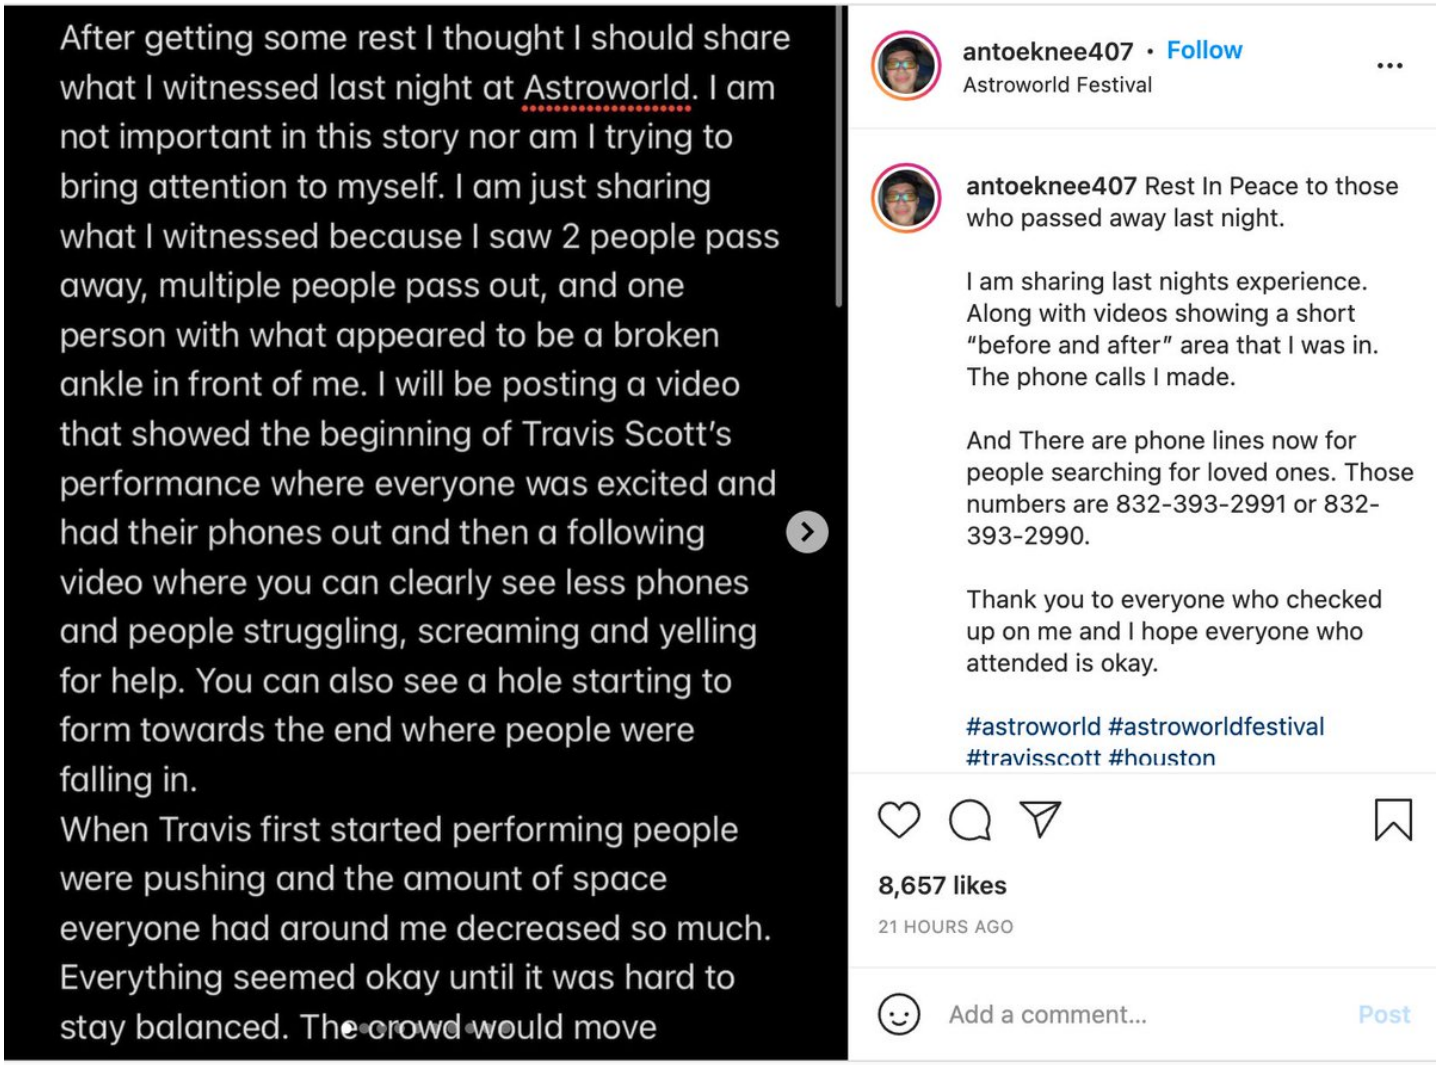

Video source: Andy Pacheco on Instagram, found untagged on Reddit r/travisscott

This video is a combination of 2, filmed by @Antoeknee407 at Travis Scott/Astroworld, posted on IG. The 2 clips clearly show the swift change in mood of the crowd–from excitement to chaos, from happiness to struggle and screams for help. His account is striking.

@Antoeknee407 "I saw two people pass away, multiple people pass out, and one person with what appeared to be a broken ankle in front of me."–@Antoeknee407 on IG, following his experience at Travis Scott/Astroworld in Houston.

Thank you, @skepticalspice, for pointing me to Antony's important account!