Lol I love the internal conflict that America has with holding white people accountable as a group and individual. The storyline shouldn't be Trumps response!! His lack of response is sinister when the real storyline is that he incited and his people funded the shit.

The fact that a sitting President can not only incite but then be associated with those who fund and then he is the guy who is expected to respond and fix it is a microcosm in whiteness and lack of accountability. How the cops responded to white criminals another version of it.

For such a pro criminal pro solitary pro death penalty pro law and order place. This is a pretty easy investigation. One start would be pull in all of the law enforcement agencies involved. Focus on where they got their orders and who did they communicate with.

Then pull people like Giuliani, Meadows, Trump family and inner circle, get phones and then question. They will have to lawyer up. It's the Feds if the lie that's a punishable offense when the Feds talk to you.

The investigation and inquiry has to happen regardless. Instead the other major political party who identify themselves as conservative and the chosen people who happen to be all white men for the most part voted Trump as their leader at a mtg while all this shit going down.

Instead the false narrative goes 1)Hey it's censorship (I want to tweet on a private enterprise and make it a state tool to spread propaganda and violence) 2) An impeachment is the continued witch hunt and it will divide the country further.

See that's Pimp game con man straight American exceptionalism programming. The very reason you see Q anon shit conspiracy shit and all the wack shit you see on this very app flourishing.

Same reason you see citizens wrong and strong saying the most insane shit & either believe it or it's the grift or con on some level.

Oh I forgot he told them to go over there and they would meet them and their attorney said trial by combat. Last night the GOP vote and power remains status quo. Watch how this shot fall out...

For such a pro rule of law country they sure get cold feet all of a sudden....let’s slow it down guys... let’s think about the affects now.

For a country so big on merit and results how the fuck you follow the leadership that lost you the house, senate, and presidency and now you got the fuzz where you work investigating a Homicide. These are some ghetto thug motherfuckers lol

I know it’s some old mob guys in BOP right now or on the street telling some story on how Trump used to their Johnson’s for women and drugs or some shit to be down with them. I know they laughing ass off at America right now.

*used to ride their Johnson’s.
