Twitter Thread by Ben Meer

Ben Meer
@SystemSunday

The internet is free university.

But 99% don't know the best spots on this virtual campus.

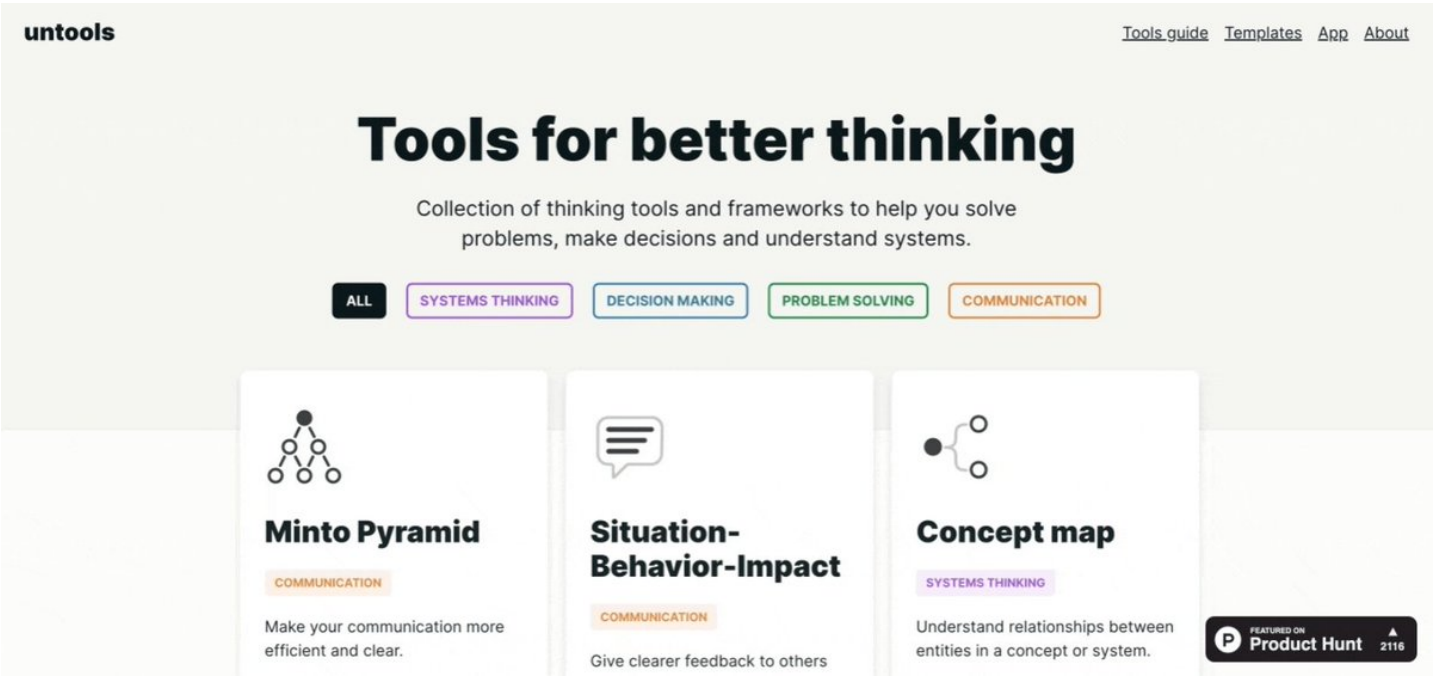

Here are the top websites to accelerate your learning ■

https://t.co/vMgngVKMow

Benefit from a collection of thinking tools and frameworks.

Categories include:

• Systems thinking
• Decision making
• Problem solving
• Communication

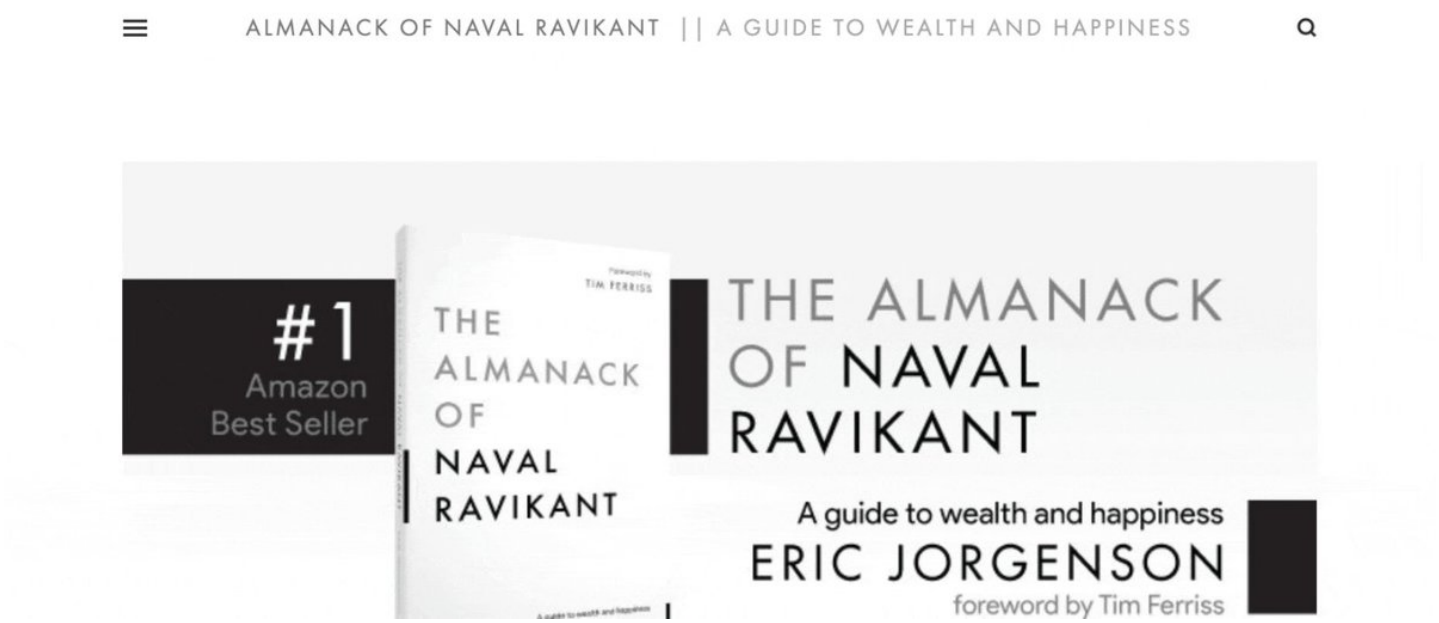

https://t.co/nC7EEZ5yvd

Use this website to download the free book:

“The Almanack of Naval Ravikant”

(In my Top 3 favorite books of all time)

Lessons:
• Money and happiness are skills
• Productize yourself
• Play long-term iterated games
• And much, much more.

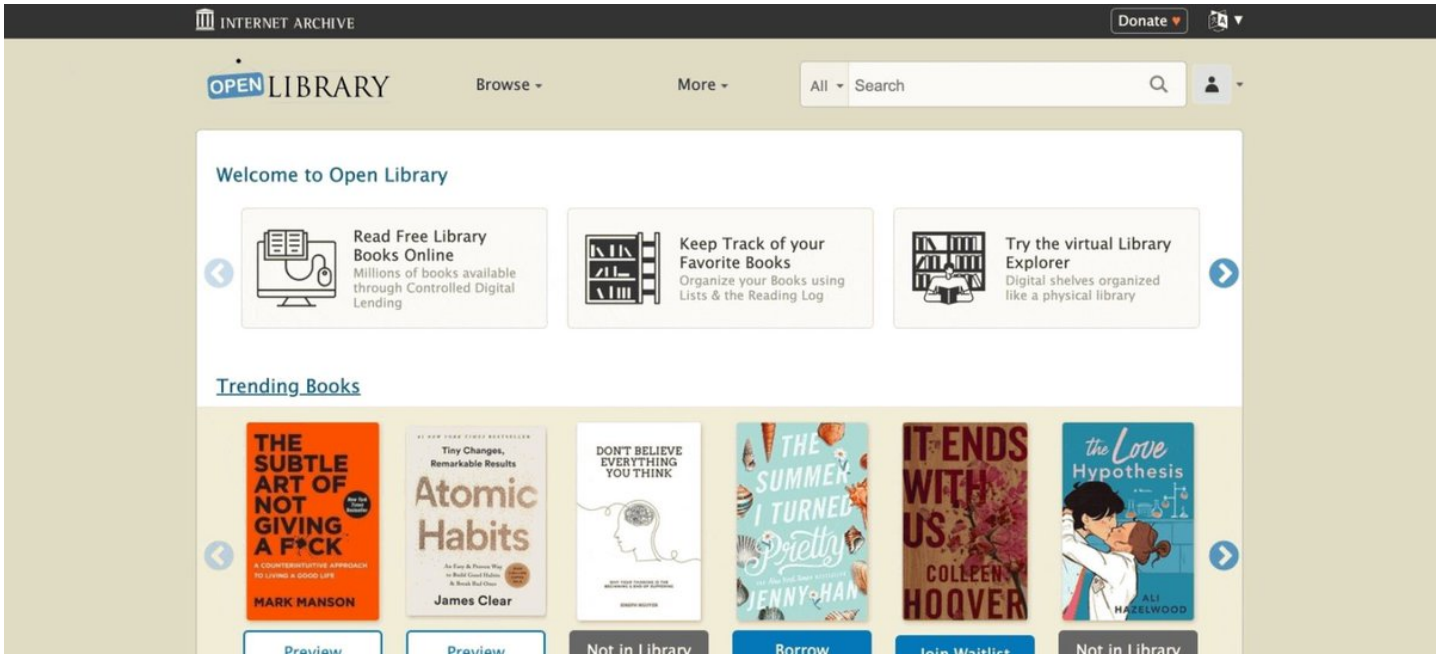

https://t.co/r0HLYB6DS3

Search millions of books on Open Library,

(available through digital lending).

All it takes to get a ‘library card’?

An email address.

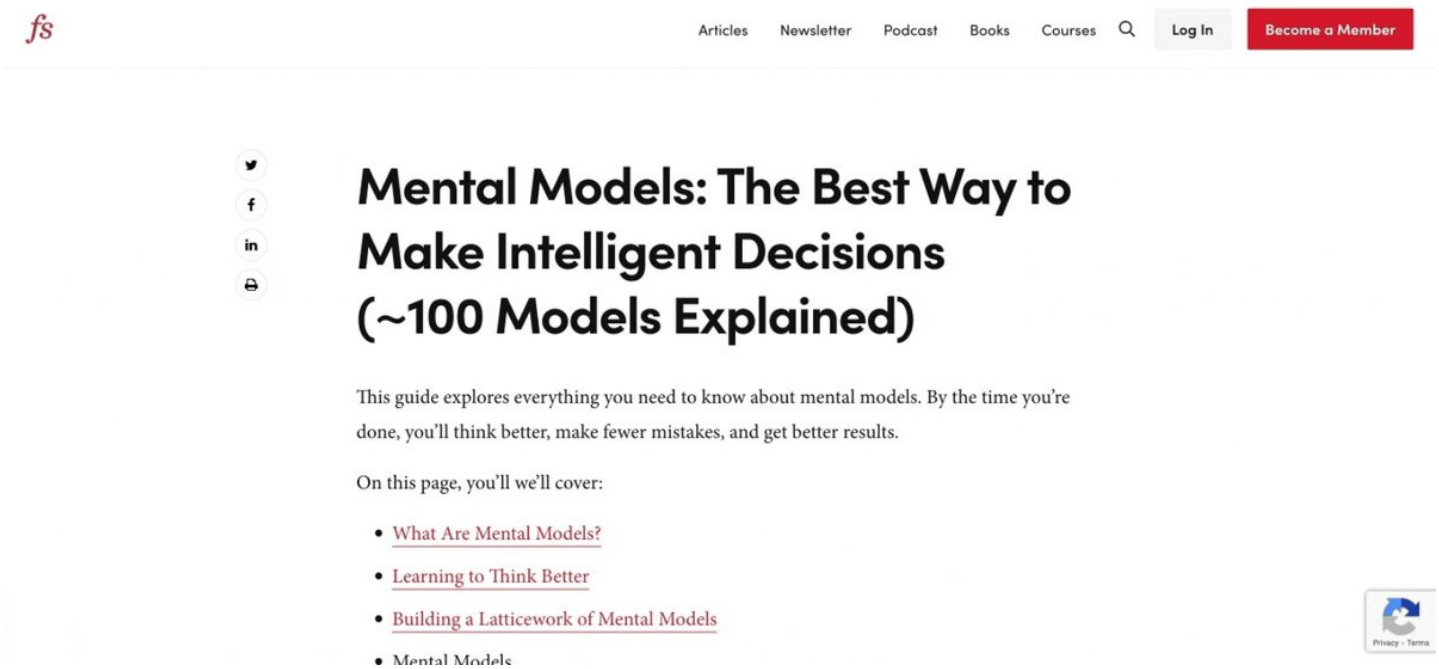

https://t.co/p8uZZtkezJ

Farnam Street (FS) has an excellent archive of mental models.

You'll think better, make fewer mistakes, and excel.

Go further with FS' articles, podcast, and newsletter.

https://t.co/QODpQ8rFEa

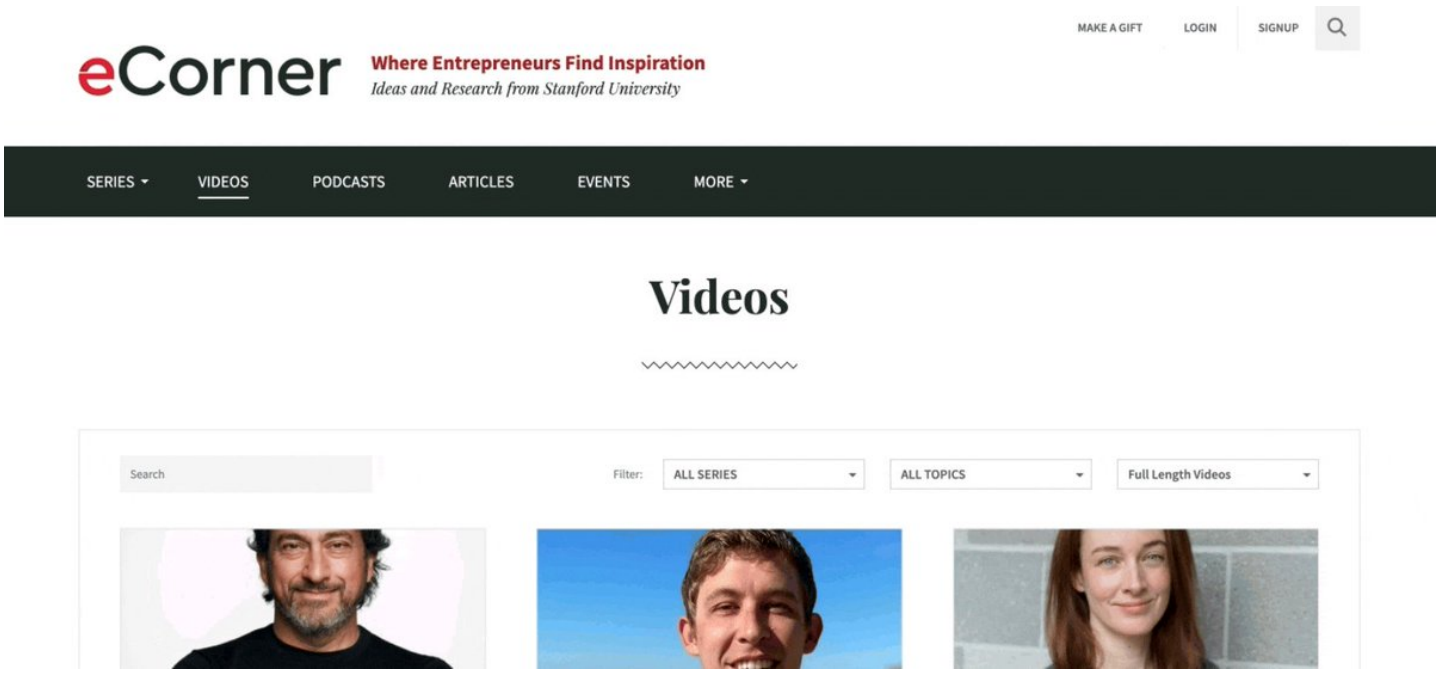

Attention entrepreneurs:

Get wisdom from people who've built successful startups (courtesy of Stanford).

I especially like the video series.

You'll hear from top founders, venture capitalists, and professors.

Bookmark this site, and thank me later.

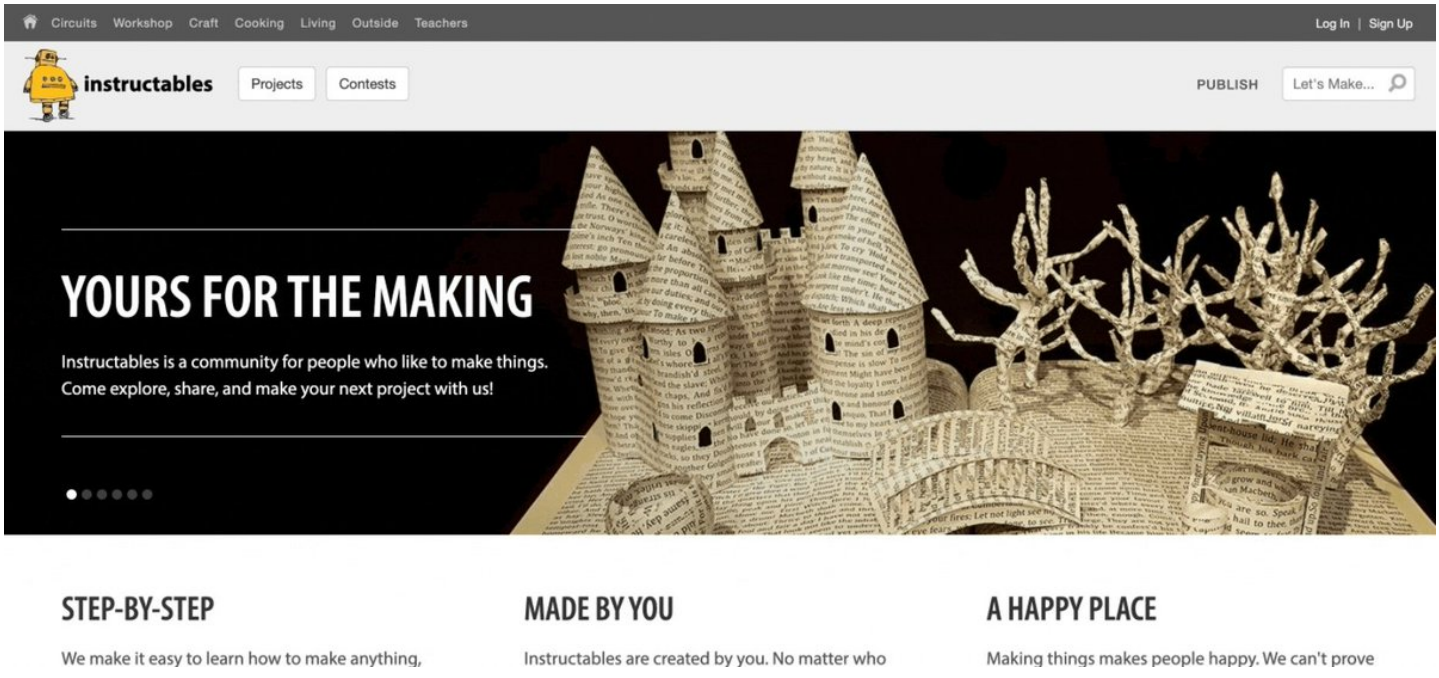

https://t.co/PvQj9Oglid

Learn how to make anything step-by-step.

From creating candles to building a 3D printer,

you'll probably find it here.

You'll also find a large community of DIY makers + innovators.

https://t.co/sAdDWauCji

The mission of Code Camp:

Help you learn to code for free.

Find thousands of videos, articles, and interactive coding lessons.

Start building a high-income skill.

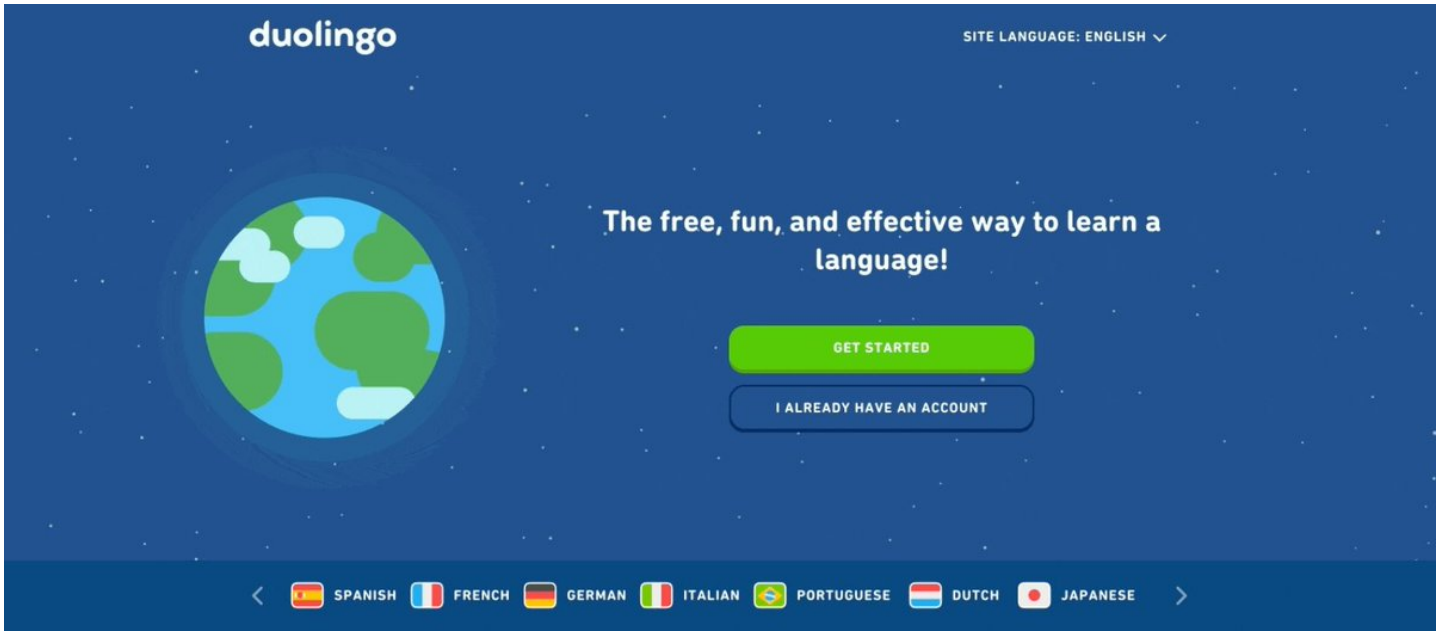

https://t.co/qssjQXpFUq

Learn 30+ languages online for free.

Duolingo gamifies the experience, making it fun.

An accompanying mobile app makes it easy to practice wherever you are.

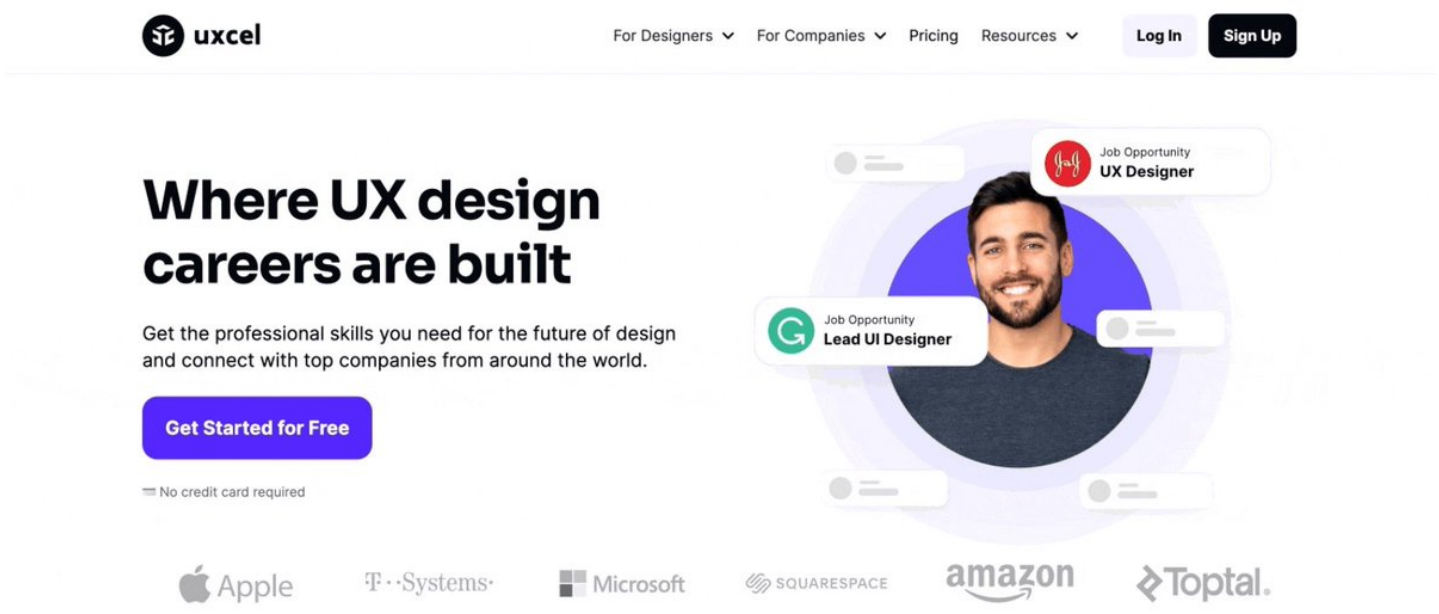

https://t.co/Q3HmMkN8M1

Want to build a career in UX design?

Uxcel is a great place to start.

Join a free community of 120k+ like-minded members.

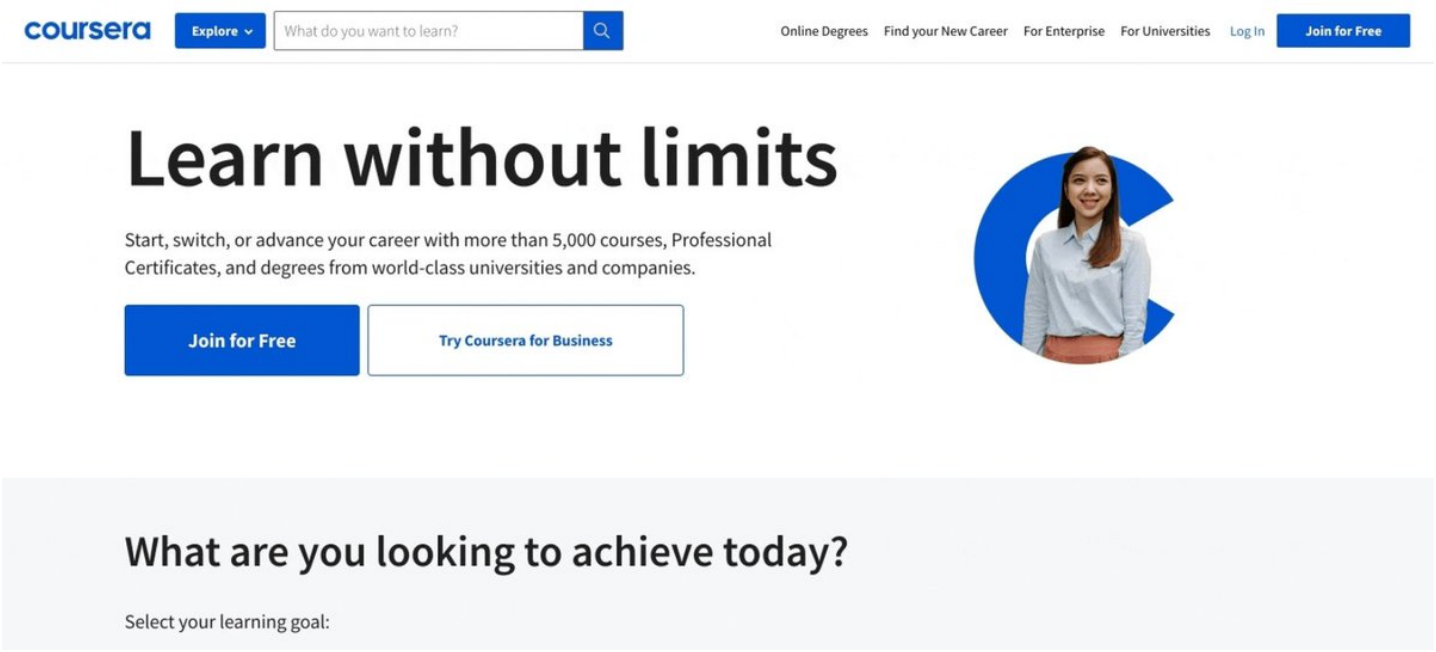

You'll build valuable skills and find work opportunities.

https://t.co/EGaMR7SUgt

Browse an extensive list of free courses from top companies and universities.

World-class instruction = accelerate your career.

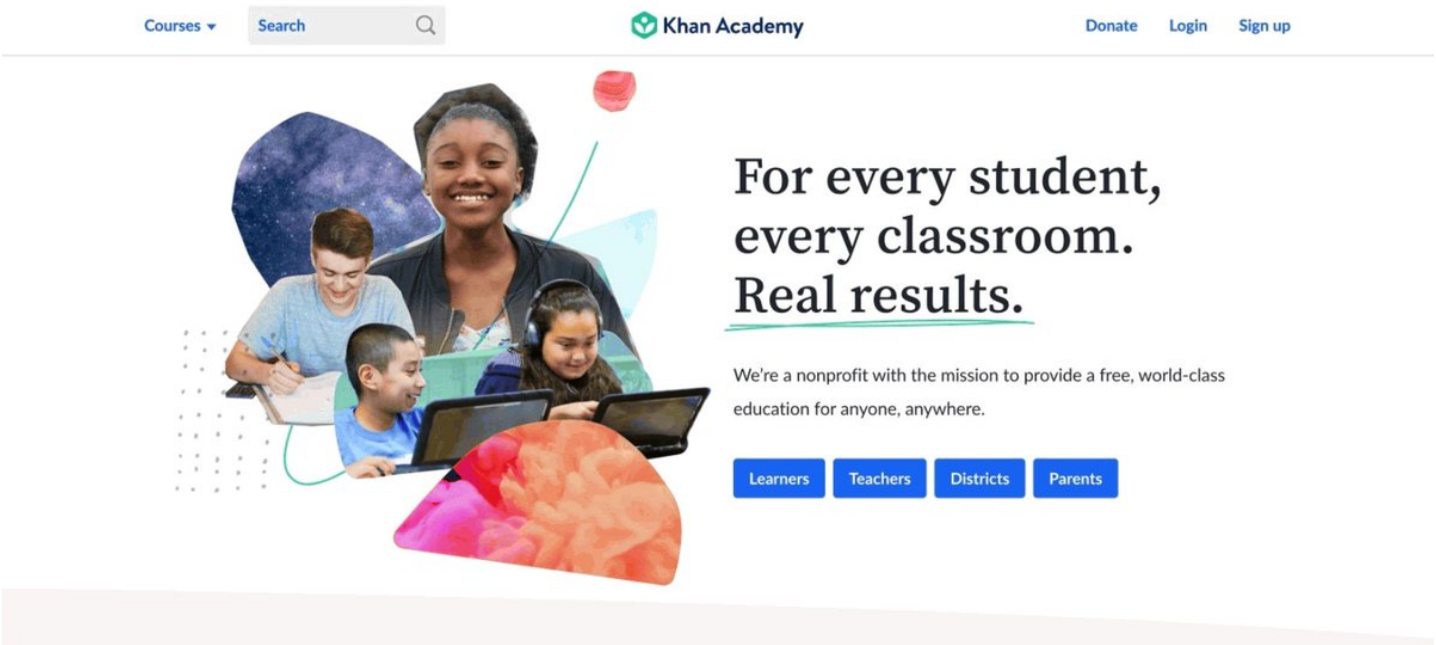

https://t.co/o9MhQNZoJW

Khan Academy is a nonprofit focused on free educational tools.

It's especially popular for learning math + science.

The material covers skills taught in K-12

(saved me countless times preparing for tests).

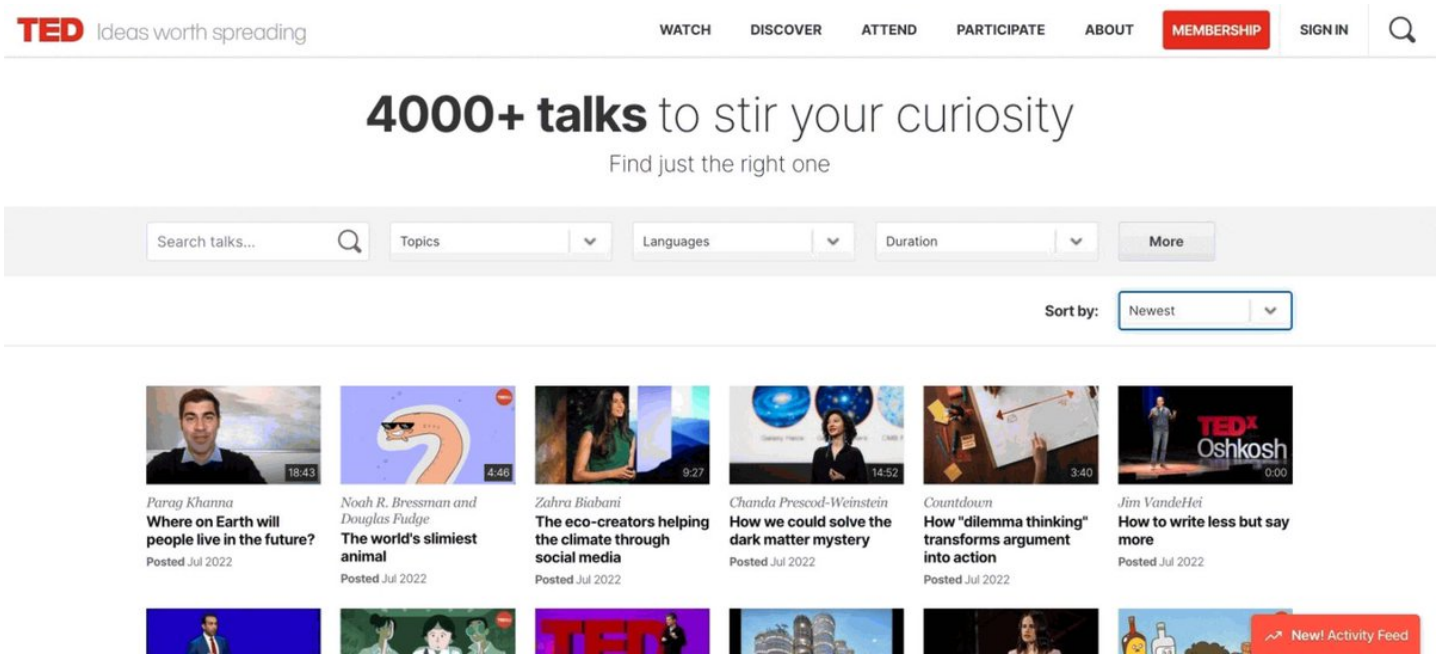

https://t.co/TIGgeCW3Dr

You've likely already heard of Ted Talks.

No free learning list would be complete without it.

You'll find a wide range of 200+ topics from psychology to urban planning to NFTs.

Get virtual mentorship from top experts.

https://t.co/TQzL76H4Dh

You're here.

Twitter is one of my favorite places to learn online.

But 99% miss out on the high-value accounts to follow...

Of the best 'free university' accounts:

@SahilBloom
@shaneparrish
@hubermanlab
@amandanat
@IAmClintMurphy
@KurtisHanni
@The_MMW
@thedankoe
@blakeaburge
@dickiebush
@anthilemoon

@BrianFeroldi
@easlo
@AccentInvesting
@creation247
@MishaDaVinci
@WrongsToWrite
@_alexbrogan

Those were 13 of the top learning websites (all free).

If you enjoyed this thread, please RT the first tweet and follow me @SystemSunday

This account exists to help you:

• Learn systems + mental models
• Become your best self

Cheers,
Ben

P.S. If you like productivity tools, you will love my weekly newsletter (it's free).

Every Sunday, I feature the best tech products for wealth, health, and free time.

Try it here:
https://t.co/pjCfCGeRPW