Twitter Thread by Andrew Kuhn

Andrew Kuhn
@FocusedCompound

The shorter your holding period in a stock, the more important the price you buy at (P/E, P/B, etc.) and the price you sell at (P/E, P/B, etc.)

The longer your holding period in a stock, the more important the return on capital/growth rate of the company you've invested in