Twitter Thread by Niteen S Dharmawat

Niteen S Dharmawat
@niteen_india

A director whose moderate income is heavily dependent on directors' fee and who hopes mightily to be involved to join other boards in order to earn more fees is highly unlikely to offend a CEO or fellow directors, is not an independent director.