@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug GEN SALIM SALEH: President Museveni recently told me that whoever wants to discuss Uganda's economy, should first look at factors of production in 1900, in 1962, 1986 and how they are in 2020. Where do we want them to be?

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug GEN SALIM SALEH: Northern Uganda is going to become the fastest growing area economically, because of peace. Commercial farming is beginning to take place, poverty levels have reduced. Government continues to pump in support.

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug OO: There has been general transformation, but we need to start taking a look at the obstacles to factors of production. Agriculture is no longer viable for some. What do we do to transform such areas to move to other fields of production?

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug OO: What do we do to transform from agriculture to other fields? We have 68% of Ugandans outside the market economy. We have laid the foundation with universal education, health, operation wealth creation, then peace & tranquility.

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug GEN SALIM SALEH: What is causing the anxiety in the public is the disconnect between MRM in Government, and NRM O, the organization.

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug GEN SALIM SALEH: There are some conspiracy theories & security threats people are not discussing. There is one on the internet that all the wealth has been taken by the Kaguta family. They say we have finished all the land in the country!

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug GEN DAVID MUHOOZI: We need to enforce the law firmly. Whatever ambitions we have need a stable space if we are to achieve our dreams. We have invested in prevention.. that explains our presence on the streets, to assure that all is safe.

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug GEN SALIM SALEH: I am happy the security officers now have a full understanding of the security scenario & development challenges in Uganda. They know you cannot police hunger, you cannot police underdevelopment, you have to engage ...

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug GEN SALIM SALEH: The value addition by the NRA and NRM to Uganda's economy and life from 1986 to today is immense. You just need to look at many examples like the price of land then and now in Kampala alone.

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug GEN SALIM SALEH: To take over Kampala in 1986, all I needed was to reach Busega round about, then take Radio Uganda. Today, if you want to take over Kampala, it will be 10s of km before Busega, and also capture 300 radio stations.

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug GEN SALIM SALEH: I am feeling excited. After today, I think I am going to be a TV and Radio host. We are going to create a program called WOW...Who Owns What.

@DamalieOwori @OWC_ug OO: We should not give the people an impression that you can break the law because you are poor or hungry. It does not mean if you are hungry and poor, you can break the law.
